War casualties mount during past twelve months

16 Arlington men 5 from Palatine give their lives

Sixteen Arlington Heights boys lost their lives in the armed forces during 1944, according to the records in the Herald office. Two were killed in 1943.

Included in the sixteen are two who were reported missing in 1943 but not declared dead until this year.

Palatine has five deaths and a possible sixth. Mt. Prospect and Wheeling each had one. Thirteen Arlington Heights boys were wounded during the year.

Paddock Publications is endeavoring to obtain an authentic list of casualties of men in the armed forces who were residents of the communities served by the various editions. The publication of the names now on file appears below. The editor asks that omissions or errors be phoned to the publication office.

To be included in the list the man's parents (if he is unmarried) must now be residents of one of the local communities, or he must have made his home there at the time of his induction. The dates shown in parenthesis are the dates that the stories appeared in this newspaper.

Free Christmas show was a wow

Over 700 Arlington Heights children enjoyed the free Christmas show last Saturday morning provided by the management of Arlington Theatre and the Arlington Heights Lions club. The surprise of the morning was the decorum of the audience. The boys and girls made no noisy demonstrations and the adults who volunteered to act as "lion tamers" had nothing to do except to join their "charges" in the enjoyment of the program. The bag of treats remaining after the show were put to good use. Many a shut in child participated in the treat and the neighboring orphans home received a large number.

Manager Knapp of the theatre attributes the behavior of the children to the features that appeared on the movie program. He said, "give the children a show that appeals to them and they never get restless."

Of course there was a western feature, they are always popular. Other numbers included a Three Stooge comedy, color cartoon and an Animal reel.

Geo. Dieber returns to gas service station

George Dieber, who is no stranger to Arlington Heights and especially to wholesale users of Sinclair products is again returning to a gas service station, operating the well known Sinclair station at Vail and Northwest highway, Arlington Heights.

George is more than just a station attendant. He operated his own station 1929 to 1935 and has had many years experience as an auto mechanic. The last few years he has been operating a Sinclair truck. His home is at 114 W. Sigwalt street.

OPA acts swiftly to conserve food supply

Announcement in newspapers Christmas morning that the OPA had cancelled all food rationing stamps that had become valid prior to December 1st, brought out a rush of buyers to the delicatessen stores open that day. Some individual storekeepers opening Tuesday either waited until the official announcement was received or recognized the news story as official. By Wednesday morning the new ration rules were in effect in all stores. The necessity for the change was outlined in the telegram received by local ration boards Tuesday morning, which read as follows:

The average housewife is not bemoaning the loss of her points, accepting the situation as an additional war casualty.

"The changing situation with respect to the war in Europe, the increasing tempo of the Pacific war, the necessity for increased production in war plants and the increase in the draft call have drastically changed the situation on the home front.

"The first quarter of 1945 will see the tightest situation with respect to food that we have known thus far in the war. To meet this situation, to avert a food crisis and to insure that food will be available to all our citizens alike, the Office of Price Administration today announced the following changing in the rationing program, effective 12:01 a. m. Tuesday, December 26.

"Point values are restored to asparagus, green and wax beans, corn, spinach and peas.

"Butter point values are increased to 24 points per pound.

"Sugar stamps No. 30, 31, 32 and 33 are void.

"All outstanding home canning sugar certificates are void. Sugar stamp 40 in book 4 is void.

"All red stamps, A8 through Z8 and A5 through P5 in book 4 are void.

"All blue stamps A8 through Z8 and A5 through W5 in book 4 are void.

"New stamps will be validated at the rate of 50 points for each four week period as follows:

"Five new red stamps, T5, U5, V5, W5 and X5 will become valid on Sunday, Dec. 31.

"Five new blue stamps, C2, D2, E2, F2 and G2 will become valid on January 1.

"It was necessary to invalidate the stamps and to tighten the ration currency system to insure that all persons holding stamps will be able to obtain meats or processed foods when they present their stamps."

Commander tells how Palatine man was killed

More definite word the past week stated that Edward Weide of Palatine had been killed in action in the second battle of the Phillippine Sea. Edward had previously been reported missing.

A letter was received by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Weide of Palatine, written by Lt. Comdr. George Marix, commander of the Eversole. It states, in part:

"During the action in which Edward lost his life, his ship, the Eversole, was assigned to duty in supporting the landing of troops on Leyte Island in the Philippines, and participated in the second naval battle of the Philippine Sea.

"Edward died valiantly and instantly when an explosion took place at 2:29 on the morning of October 29, 1944. He felt no pain whatsoever, for everything was mercifully all too sudden. He died while serving his country with the highest degree of loyalty."

Petty Officer Weide entered the navy December 8, 1942. He left for overseas duty last March.

Edward was born in Arlington Heights June 3, 1924. When three years old his parents moved to Palatine, where he attended the Lutheran school and graduated from the Palatine high school in June, 1940.

The young man and Miss Leona Gaare, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gaare, of Palatine with whom he had passed through the school years, had planned to be married after the war.

Aside from his parents, Edward leaves a brother, Marvin, a sister, Leona, and a number of other relatives in Elgin as well as Palatine.

School reopens next Tuesday and Wdenesday

St. Peter Lutheran school will open after the holidays January 2nd. The public and St. James schools will reopen Wednesday, January 3.

Outlook for '45 to appear next week

Annual Babson was 91 percent right last year

The annual Babson Business and Financial outlook for 1945 will be published in next week's editions of Paddock Publications. The forecast, an annual feature, has proven surprisingly accurate in past years, and promises to be both interesting and informative this year.

American business has no more inspiring personality than Roger W. Babson, internationally-known business commentator and investment adviser. Born in 1875, reared in an old-fashioned atmosphere of hard work and hustle on a farm in Gloucester, Mr. Babson went to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Upon graduating in 1898, he turned instinctively to financial and business activities.

His exertions, however, undermined his health; he contracted tuberculosis and he was sent West "as good as dead"! It was while he was convalescing from this dread malady that he worked out some of the possibilities and problems of business statistics.

That was almost forty years ago. Today his weekly statistical and financial reports are read by thousands of businessmen and his research work is carried on by a large staff of workers.

Readers are urged to watch for Babson's forecast next week in all six Paddock Publications.

Uninvited Xmas guest brings back old memories

George Klehm, one of Arlington Heights longest residents, played host to an uninvited guest Christmas eve that recalled to him trapping days of 60 years ago. The uninvited guest was an opossum which played possum in its efforts to avoid capture.

Some animal has been helping itself to George's chickens and wild ducks. At nine o'clock Sunday evening he saw a shadow in his back yard. Turning on the yard lights, he saw the animal go under the porch.

Calling upon his daughter, Henrietta, to bring out an electric light, he was ready with his gun. Henrietta was at first certain that there was no opossum beneath the porch. Her father was certain that the opossum was playing possum. Suddenly Miss Klehm discovered the animal. Using a broom the opossum was driven out. George got him in one shot, which is rather good for a man 82 years old at 9 o'clock at night, thinks Mr. Klehm.

This is not the first opossum he has captured. Sixty years ago he trapped them, receiving 7c a skin in Chicago. About the same time he trapped mink, receiving only 35c a skin.

The skin with claws and head will be taken by Miss Klehm to Mission House College at Plymouth, Wis., where she is teaching biology, the class at this time studying claws and tails. The average person may not know that one of the claws on an opossum is similar to a thumb, showing that under the evolution theory opossum is a step above the average animal.

Bring Christmas to two children confined to beds

Myrtle and Charles, children of Mr. and Mrs. Pfundstein, Jr., had a very happy Christmas even if they were confined to their beds and had to miss the usual holiday festivities. First the Girl Scouts sang carols to them through the windows. The Lions Club set over Christmas cheer. Christmas visits were given the children by Supt. Clabaugh and Miss Grothe, the first grade teacher of the South school.

Myrtle and Charles have asked the Herald to say "thank you" to all their friends.

Julius Heimsoth, gas truck operator, dies suddenly

Julius Heimsoth, who has operated a gas truck from Arlington Heights the past 18 years, died suddenly December 22. He had left his truck to walk across a field to the home of a customer and was on his way back when he succumbed. He had been under medical treatment for some time.

Ed Hinsberger home for holiday visit

Friends of Ed Hinsberger who is stationed at Camp Chickasha, Okla., will be glad to learn that he is home for a brief visit over the New Year's holiday. Ed arrived in Arlington Heights Tuesday night and says he will be around for about a week. He formerly operated Eddie's Castle Bar in Arlington Heights.

New owners in many homes

There has been a lot of realty activity in this area says Mr. Florence of the firm of Willson & Florence. He ought to know because his firm has had a hand in many of the transfers. Among those passing through his office recently are:

Richard W. Manke of 583 Burton Place, Scarsdale, Arlington Heights, who has been transferred to Louisville, Ky., has sold his place to Chas. Stockwell of Woodstock. Mr. Stockwell will move here December 30. He is an advertising man with the Dakota Farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Youngrew of 311 Pine st., Mt. Prospect, have sold to Mrs. Geraldine Hall. Mrs. Hall and her two daughters moved in December 23. The Youngrens have rented the Douglas Gilbert house at 303 S. Wille, Mt. Prospect, Mrs. Gilbert having joined her husband who is in the navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey D. Booth of 317 S. Main st., Mt. Prospect, have sold to Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Tice of Evanston. The Booths are moving to Park Ridge.

Dr. Harold Meisenheimer sold the house at 408 N. Evergreen to Guy Davis of 534 So. Vail. The Davis family are already in their new home.

The Walter Armstrong home, 170 Drury Lane, Stonegate, has been purchased by the Fred Steingrabers of Prospect Heights. They will occupy their new home after the first of the year.

The Harry Payne residence on Wilke rd., has been purchased by the Frederich Liessman's of Chicago. The Liessmans are already in their new home.

The Victory Ruebhausen home at 500 Elmhurst rd., Prospect Heights, has been sold to Donald G. Florup of Butler Bros. The Ruebhausens have moved to California. The Florups are in their new home.

The B. McDonald home at 607 Elmhurst rd., Prospect Heights, has been sold to Walter R. Walker of Chicago.

The Edwin D. Hedstrom home of 104 Kenilworth, Prospect Heights, sold to Ossie B. McDonald also of Prospect Heights.

The Fitzgerald home at 609 S. Belmont, Scarsdale, Arlington Heights, to Henri Varming, owner of the Von Herman Pharmacy in the Peoples Gas Bldg., Chicago.

The Marvin Boss home at 636 Mayfair rd., Scarsdale, Arlington Heights, has been sold to F. A. Hoppe of C. & N. W. Ry. The Boss' have gone to California.

The Harold Ratliff home at 510 Beverly Lane, Scarsdale, Arlington Heights, has been sold to S. P. Dykstra. The Ratliffs have gone to Florida.

The Gilbert Wilke home at 629 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights, has been sold to W. F. Hagestad who is with the Pure Oil Co., Chicago. Also the J. W. Bruhnke home at 933 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, to Stuart L. Dueger of Pittsburgh, Pa. The last two transactions having been in connection with Flentie & Behrens representing the sellers and Willson & Florence representing the buyers.

Realty firm is now Willson and Florence

Willson & Florence, Realtors, will make its bow the first of the year supplanting the former firm name of Harold Willson and Associate, which during the fourteen years of its existence has become well known along the Northwest highway.

Mr. Florence became associated with Mr. Willson in the business in June, 1943, and has managed the office since that time. He has established an enviable record for home sales in this area.

"The future of suburban northwest area", says Mr. Florence, "is most encouraging. He finds that there is a demand for homes along the Northwestern and that a lot of families that have lived in apartments in the city now desire to live in and enjoy a smaller community. People are becoming more health-minded, more garden-minded and where can they find a better place to live than in Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights or Prospect Heights?"

A lone robin joins the cardinals at Volz feeding station

Mr. and Mrs. G. Rex Volz, N. Belmont ave., Arlington Heights, are getting a lot of enjoyment feeding the birds during the winter. Their special joy is a pair of cardinals who return each year bringing their babies with them. When the feed box is empty, Mrs. Cardinal goes to the kitchen window to let Mrs. Volz know that it is meal time for the birds. Sunflower seed is their special delight.

Of course, there are other birds, even sparrows who wax fat at the Volz bird feeding station, but the Volz find their efforts well repaid in watching their feathered friends. Wednesday morning Mrs. Volz saw her first robin, whether it is a "hangover" from last fall or an early bird, it is a gamble. Anyway, the presence of the robin reminds one that spring is not so very far off.

How Arlington backed the war effort during 1944

Postoffice played Santa Xmas Eve

Arlington Heights postoffice employees will remember probably until next Christmas the strenuous hours they spent in handling the 1944 Christmas mail. They rather enjoyed the work and as a final gesture of the Christmas spirit reported for duty Sunday, cleaning up the last of the mail then in the office. Two trucks made parcel post deliveries during the day. It was the greatest job ever asked of the Arlington office, breaking all records for the number of cancellations and the number of packages received and dispatched.

There are a lot of people who did mail early, but there were so many who waited until the last moment that there were many Christmas greeting cards that did not reach the addresses until after Christmas.

Christmas mail continued to arrive in such volume on Tuesday, the day after Christmas, that two trucks handled the packages and extra carriers were necessary.

Mrs. Virginia Dodge, postmaster and her assistant, Louis Zinkel, were well prepared for the avalanch of mail that arrived at the office. A substation handled the parcel post with deliveries direct from the station to the homes.

Mrs. Dodge expreses her appreciation to the public which placed eighty per cent of their 1½c matter into the large box in the lobby. This enabled the postoffice to handle the business and all first class mail expediously.

The cancelling machine handled 31,300 pieces of matter on Tuesday and a total of 72,000 for the five days preceeding Christmas. The previous high record for one day was 28,000 a year ago.

To handle so much mail with many extra helpers required careful planning and to the credit of the regular employees the 'production line' worked perfectly.

Celebrate when Red Cross worker passes 1,000 hours

The Thursday Red Cross production unit in Arlington Heights that meets at the field house on Thursdays was able to celebrate as well as work last week. Mrs. Harry Ruppel had completed 1,000 hours of volunteer Red Cross service. The unit was so proud of her that they made it an occasion for cake, coffee, and congratulatins.

Mrs. Ruppel has two stars in her window, one for her son and one for her son-in-law. She is doing her part and more, like many other mothers and wives in Arlington Heights.

The Thursday Red Cross sewing group will make surgical dressings on Thursdays until further notice. This is because the need for surgical dressings is so urgent. Everyone is urged to come to the house on Thursday any time from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. One hour, two hours, ½ day or all day. No time is too short. Come and go as you wish but above all COME.

Santa Claus brings a daughter to Prospect Heights family

Santa Claus' Christmas present to the Iver Iversons, Rand rd. this year was a son weighing 9 pounds, born on Christmas Eve to Mrs. Iverson at the Des Plaines Northwestern hospital. They have one other child, a daughter Marilyn.

Clothing exchange open new hours

Mt. Prospect clothing exchange has announced that they will be open Thursday, January 4, and every week thereafter on Thursday from 9:00 to 11:30 a. m. Those interested in ice skates, rubbers or galoshes are urged to see the exchange selection. They are located at the northwest corner of Busse and Main streets.

ANNUAL MEETING OF MUTUAL COUNTY FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

The 70th annual meeting of the Mutual County Fire Insurance Company of Mt. Prospect will be held Tuesday, January 9, 1945, at one o'clock p. m. at the Lutheran school hall, Mt. Prospect, Ill., for the purpose of the election of directors whose terms expire and to hear the annual reports of the officers.

George F. Meyer, President
George Busse, Secretary.

Dear Neighbor:

When I wrote you last week I promised facts and figures on the results of the 6th War Loan Drive, and really you and our Victory Volunteers have done a marvelous piece of work. You've established a record of bond purchases which is something to be mighty proud of. Mr. Paul Miller, the drive chairman, is to be commended for the organization pattern he cut; the pieces fitted together perfectly, and we can certainly see the results of his carefully planned campaign. And yet, what's a perfect pattern without material with which to work, and Mr. Miller told me that his workers were "all wool and a yard wide." There's something more to this—you who bought the bonds complete the picture of the pattern, material, and resulting product.

Teamwork—that's what has made actual individual sales at the bank total to date $132,000 and overall sales $200,000. There are a few more days left—until the end of the week—and the wa this week has started out, it looks as if the individual sales will pass $140,000. Now, isn't that something? Might even be more, because the Victory Volunteers, w are now busy adding results an tallying reports, find there are number of subscriptions yet to b taken up. These will be paid, n doubt, before the close of business Saturday, and they'll certainly swell the final figure.

I heard yesterday of one district that had $25,000 in actua subscriptions; practically three times as much as in the 5th driv That record was hung up by tha hard-working, enthusiastic pair Sam Baker and his co-chairman o the Southwest District—west of State Road and south of the High way, but NOT including the business district. Good work, fellows

Did you get some money for Christmas? Why not put it to work right away in the war effort by buying a bond? You've got a few more days—in fact until the close of business Saturday and your purchase will count in the 6th War Loan figures. Our Victory Volunteers will be all thr with their adding and checkin and tallying, and next week can give you official results.

Arlington Heights, indeed the City of Good Neighbors, can face the New Year, heads up, knowin they're gone over the top with bang on the 6th War Loan.

Sincerely,
Your Neighbor.

Bundles Xmas stocking drive nets $836

The Arlington Heights Unit for Bundles for America wishes to report that its annual Christmas stocking drive for service men was an outstanding success in that a total sum of $836 was raised. We are taking this opportunity to publicly thank the townspeople, business men, civic organizations and clubs for their generous contriboutions. We wish also to thank the girls of the Arlington Heights high school who devoted their time and efforts in canvassing the village. The people of Arlington Heights may well be proud that they have taken a part in making this a merrier Christmas for our boys.

Mrs. V. S. Curtis. Jr.,
Chairman of the Christmas Stocking Drive.

Rev. Geo. W. Goebel pastor of Des Plaines church 25 years

Last Sunday mark—ed the 25th anniversary of the Rev. Geo. W. Goebel as pastor of Christ Evangelical and Reformed Church of Des Plaines. He came to Des Plaines 25 years ago from Pekin, Ill., where for 13 years he was pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church, now one of the strongest churches in the North Illinois synod. His first charge was in Elmwood Place, Ohio, a suburb of Cincinnati, where he served 12½ years. Rev. Goebel is a graduate of Elmhurst College of which his father was president many years ago.

He received his theological education in Eden Semniary, St. Louis, Mo., and McCormick Seminary, Chicago, from which he was graduated fifty years ago. Christ Evangelical and Reformed Church of Des Plaines has an approximate communicant membership of 500. Two years ago the church celebrated its 50th anniversary and the pastor at the same time the 50th ordaination to the ministry.

Rev. Goebel served his denomination the former Evangelical Synod of North America, in various capacities. For 6 years as president and 3 years as vice-president of the North Illinois District, also as a member of various boards and as a delegate to general conferences.

Gave generously in all drives for funds

The people of Arlington Heights are war conscious. When the local history is written of the part Arlington Heights played during 1944 in the present war, it will be a story of loyalty and of over-quota achievements.

Local people in many ways demonstrated that the Community of Good Neighbors is not a town of war slackers. Its citizens were generous of their time and dollars. As drive followed drive the community did not say "we have had enough." Instead it opened its pocketbooks a little wider and the indivdiual dug a little deeper to find more and still more paper money to swell totals for war fund, Xmas seals, infantile paralysis, Red Cross, Boy and Girl Scouts and the other civic and national war projects that needed doing and in which Arlington Heights was delegated to have a part.

And the job was not finished until its citizens had purchased during the year three quarters of a million dollars worth of war bonds during the 4th, 5th and 6th war loan drives.

The Red Cross blood bank unit made two trips to Arlington Heights during the year, the first in February when 300 pints were accepted by the Red Cross and the second in September when 317 pints of blood were received by the blood bank. On the books of the Red Cross Arlington Heights is credited with 994 pints of blood in three visits of the blood bank unit here.

Arlington Heights exceeded its Polio quota by 160 per cent, raising $821 during January and February.

The Boy Scout drive for funds in March netted over $1400, the largest sum ever raised for that purpose in the community in recent years.

Announcement was made in February that the 1943 Christmas Seal receipts were $737.76.

Arlington Heights largest volunteer contribution during the year was to the Red Cross roll call in March-April when a total of $7,000 was collected.

The collection of salvage and old newspapers has a double purpose. The government needs the paper and the rent and other expenses of the local OPA office are paid from the OCD share of the money received from the sale of the old papers. The total received from their sale during 1944 was $800, half of which wentt to the Boy Scout fund and the other half to the OCD.

The community July 4th celebration netted $3600, forty per cent of which went to the recreation fund, making possible a summer playtime project and the remainding $2100 going to the permanent Memorial fund, which now totals $3600.

The war fund compaign, that was recently completed exceeded its quota and $5000 was turned over to the USO and kindred agencies that benefit from that campaign.

The Traveling Bank has forwarded $1499 to Arlington boys who are in service.

A drive for funds for the Girl Scouts held in November, totaled $930.10.

Bundles for America collected $836 for Christmas stockings during December.

The above tells only of the dollars and cents that Arlington Heights people have officially contributed to further the war effort. No attempt has been made to itemize the value of the work that has been done by the Red Cross workers in the sewing and surgical dressing units. They amount to hundreds and thousands of hours given by the women of the communtiy. The demand for surgical dressings has become so great that Arlington is way behind on its quota and in an effort to get near the quota, workers in all branches of Red Cross work will turn to making surgical dressings during January.

There is another side to Red Cross work that is not realized by many local people. The local general Red Cross chairman, George Schneberger, has answered 150 calls during the year to aid the wives of families of men in service or to secure furloughs for those in whose families death or serious illnesses have occurred.

Few homes without Christmas cheer

Any distribution of Christmas baskets in Arlington Heights this year was done by private individuals. In the opinion of relief authorities there was little need for the usual baskets as practically all families have members who are employed. Supervisor Gilbert Klehm, Wheeling township, informed Paddock Publications this week that he has only 17 families on the relief rolls.

Free Christmas show was a wow

Over 700 Arlington Heights children enjoyed the free Christmas show last Saturday morning provided by the management of Arlington Theatre and the Arlington Heights Lions club. The surprise of the morning was the decorum of the audience. The boys and girls made no noisy demonstrations and the adults who volunteered to act as "lion tamers" had nothing to do except to join their "charges" in the enjoyment of the program. The bag of treats remaining after the show were put to good use. Many a shut in child participated in the treat and the neighboring orphans home received a large number.

Manager Knapp of the theatre attributes the behavior of the children to the features that appeared on the movie program. He said, "give the children a show that appeals to them and they never get restless."

Of course there was a western feature, they are always popular. Other numbers included a Three Stooge comedy, color cartoon and an Animal reel.

Geo. Dieber returns to gas service station

George Dieber, who is no stranger to Arlington Heights and especially to wholesale users of Sinclair products is again returning to a gas service station, operating the well known Sinclair station at Vail and Northwest highway, Arlington Heights.

George is more than just a station attendant. He operated his own station 1929 to 1935 and has had many years experience as an auto mechanic. The last few years he has been operating a Sinclair truck. His home is at 114 W. Sigwalt street.

OPA acts swiftly to conserve food supply

Announcement in newspapers Christmas morning that the OPA had cancelled all food rationing stamps that had become valid prior to December 1st, brought out a rush of buyers to the delicatessen stores open that day. Some individual storekeepers opening Tuesday either waited until the official announcement was received or recognized the news story as official. By Wednesday morning the new ration rules were in effect in all stores. The necessity for the change was outlined in the telegram received by local ration boards Tuesday morning, which read as follows:

The average housewife is not bemoaning the loss of her points, accepting the situation as an additional war casualty.

"The changing situation with respect to the war in Europe, the increasing tempo of the Pacific war, the necessity for increased production in war plants and the increase in the draft call have drastically changed the situation on the home front.

"The first quarter of 1945 will see the tightest situation with respect to food that we have known thus far in the war. To meet this situation, to avert a food crisis and to insure that food will be available to all our citizens alike, the Office of Price Administration today announced the following changing in the rationing program, effective 12:01 a. m. Tuesday, December 26.

"Point values are restored to asparagus, green and wax beans, corn, spinach and peas.

"Butter point values are increased to 24 points per pound.

"Sugar stamps No. 30, 31, 32 and 33 are void.

"All outstanding home canning sugar certificates are void. Sugar stamp 40 in book 4 is void.

"All red stamps, A8 through Z8 and A5 through P5 in book 4 are void.

"All blue stamps A8 through Z8 and A5 through W5 in book 4 are void.

"New stamps will be validated at the rate of 50 points for each four week period as follows:

"Five new red stamps, T5, U5, V5, W5 and X5 will become valid on Sunday, Dec. 31.

"Five new blue stamps, C2, D2, E2, F2 and G2 will become valid on January 1.

"It was necessary to invalidate the stamps and to tighten the ration currency system to insure that all persons holding stamps will be able to obtain meats or processed foods when they present their stamps."

Commander tells how Palatine man was killed

More definite word the past week stated that Edward Weide of Palatine had been killed in action in the second battle of the Phillippine Sea. Edward had previously been reported missing.

A letter was received by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Weide of Palatine, written by Lt. Comdr. George Marix, commander of the Eversole. It states, in part:

"During the action in which Edward lost his life, his ship, the Eversole, was assigned to duty in supporting the landing of troops on Leyte Island in the Philippines, and participated in the second naval battle of the Philippine Sea.

"Edward died valiantly and instantly when an explosion took place at 2:29 on the morning of October 29, 1944. He felt no pain whatsoever, for everything was mercifully all too sudden. He died while serving his country with the highest degree of loyalty."

Petty Officer Weide entered the navy December 8, 1942. He left for overseas duty last March.

Edward was born in Arlington Heights June 3, 1924. When three years old his parents moved to Palatine, where he attended the Lutheran school and graduated from the Palatine high school in June, 1940.

The young man and Miss Leona Gaare, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gaare, of Palatine with whom he had passed through the school years, had planned to be married after the war.

Aside from his parents, Edward leaves a brother, Marvin, a sister, Leona, and a number of other relatives in Elgin as well as Palatine.

School reopens next Tuesday and Wdenesday

St. Peter Lutheran school will open after the holidays January 2nd. The public and St. James schools will reopen Wednesday, January 3.

Outlook for '45 to appear next week

Annual Babson was 91 percent right last year

The annual Babson Business and Financial outlook for 1945 will be published in next week's editions of Paddock Fublications. The forecast, an annual feature, has proven surprisingly accurate in past years, and promises to be both interesting and informative this year.

American business has no more inspiring personality than Roger W. Babson, internationally-known business commentator and investment adviser. Born in 1875, reared in an old-fashioned atmosphere of hard work and hustle on a farm in Gloucester, Mr. Babson went to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Upon graduating in 1898, he turned instinctively to financial and business activities.

His exertions, however, undermined his health; he contracted tuberculosis and he was sent West "as good as dead"! It was while he was convalescing from this dread malady that he worked out some of the possibilities and problems of business statistics.

That was almost forty years ago. Today his weekly statistical and financial reports are read by thousands of businessmen and his research work is carried on by a large staff of workers.

Readers are urged to watch for Babson's forecast next week in all six Paddock Publications.

Uninvited Xmas guest brings back old memories

George Klehm, one of Arlington Heights longest residents, played host to an uninvited guest Christmas eve that recalled to him trapping days of 60 years ago. The uninvited guest was an opossum which played possum in its efforts to avoid capture.

Some animal has been helping itself to George's chickens and wild ducks. At nine o'clock Sunday evening he saw a shadow in his back yard. Turning on the yard lights, he saw the animal go under the porch.

Calling upon his daughter, Henrietta, to bring out an electric light, he was ready with his gun. Henrietta was at first certain that there was no opossum beneath the porch. Her father was certain that the opossum was playing possum. Suddenly Miss Klehm discovered the animal. Using a broom the opossum was driven out. George got him in one shot, which is rather good for a man 82 years old at 9 o'clock at night, thinks Mr. Klehm.

This is not the first opossum he has captured. Sixty years ago he trapped them, receiving 7c a skin in Chicago. About the same time he trapped mink, receiving only 35c a skin.

The skin with claws and head will be taken by Miss Klehm to Mission House College at Plymouth, Wis., where she is teaching biology, the class at this time studying claws and tails. The average person may not know that one of the claws on an opossum is similar to a thumb, showing that under the evolution theory opossum is a step above the average animal.

Bring Christmas to two children confined to beds

Myrtle and Charles, children of Mr. and Mrs. Pfundstein, Jr., had a very happy Christmas even if they were confined to their beds and had to miss the usual holiday festivities. First the Girl Scouts sang carols to them through the windows. The Lions Club set over Christmas cheer. Christmas visits were given the children by Supt. Clabaugh and Miss Grothe, the first grade teacher of the South school.

Myrtle and Charles have asked the Herald to say "thank you" to all their friends.

Julius Heimsoth, gas truck operator, dies suddenly

Julius Heimsoth, who has operated a gas truck from Arlington Heights the past 18 years, died suddenly December 22. He had left his truck to walk across a field to the home of a customer and was on his way back when he succumbed. He had been under medical treatment for some time.

Ed Hinsberger home for holiday visit

Friends of Ed Hinsberger who is stationed at Camp Chickasha, Okla., will be glad to learn that he is home for a brief visit over the New Year's holiday. Ed arrived in Arlington Heights Tuesday night and says he will be around for about a week. He formerly operated Eddie's Castle Bar in Arlington Heights.

New owners in many homes

There has been a lot of realty activity in this area says Mr. Florence of the firm of Willson & Florence. He ought to know because his firm has had a hand in many of the transfers. Among those passing through his office recently are:

Richard W. Manke of 583 Burton Place, Scarsdale, Arlington Heights, who has been transferred to Louisville, Ky., has sold his place to Chas. Stockwell of Woodstock. Mr. Stockwell will move here December 30. He is an advertising man with the Dakota Farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Youngrew of 311 Pine st., Mt. Prospect, have sold to Mrs. Geraldine Hall. Mrs. Hall and her two daughters moved in December 23. The Youngrens have rented the Douglas Gilbert house at 303 S. Wille, Mt. Prospect, Mrs. Gilbert having joined her husband who is in the navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey D. Booth of 317 S. Main st., Mt. Prospect, have sold to Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Tice of Evanston. The Booths are moving to Park Ridge.

Dr. Harold Meisenheimer sold the house at 408 N. Evergreen to Guy Davis of 534 So. Vail. The Davis family are already in their new home.

The Walter Armstrong home, 170 Drury Lane, Stonegate, has been purchased by the Fred Steingrabers of Prospect Heights. They will occupy their new home after the first of the year.

The Harry Payne residence on Wilke rd., has been purchased by the Frederich Liessman's of Chicago. The Liessmans are already in their new home.

The Victory Ruebhausen home at 500 Elmhurst rd., Prospect Heights, has been sold to Donald G. Florup of Butler Bros. The Ruebhausens have moved to California. The Florups are in their new home.

The B. McDonald home at 607 Elmhurst rd., Prospect Heights, has been sold to Walter R. Walker of Chicago.

The Edwin D. Hedstrom home of 104 Kenilworth, Prospect Heights, sold to Ossie B. McDonald also of Prospect Heights.

The Fitzgerald home at 609 S. Belmont, Scarsdale, Arlington Heights, to Henri Varming, owner of the Von Herman Pharmacy in the Peoples Gas Bldg., Chicago.

The Marvin Boss home at 636 Mayfair rd., Scarsdale, Arlington Heights, has been sold to F. A. Hoppe of C. & N. W. Ry. The Boss' have gone to California.

The Harold Ratliff home at 510 Beverly Lane, Scarsdale, Arlington Heights, has been sold to S. P. Dykstra. The Ratliffs have gone to Florida.

The Gilbert Wilke home at 629 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights, has been sold to W. F. Hagestad who is with the Pure Oil Co., Chicago. Also the J. W. Bruhnke home at 933 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, to Stuart L. Dueger of Pittsburgh, Pa. The last two transactions having been in connection with Flentie & Behrens representing the sellers and Willson & Florence representing the buyers.

Realty firm is now Willson and Florence

Willson & Florence, Realtors, will make its bow the first of the year supplanting the former firm name of Harold Willson and Associate, which during the fourteen years of its existence has become well known along the Northwest highway.

Mr. Florence became associated with Mr. Willson in the business in June, 1943, and has managed the office since that time. He has established an enviable record for home sales in this area.

"The future of suburban northwest area", says Mr. Florence, "is most encouraging. He finds that there is a demand for homes along the Northwestern and that a lot of families that have lived in apartments in the city now desire to live in and enjoy a smaller community. People are becoming more health-minded, more garden-minded and where can they find a better place to live than in Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights or Prospect Heights?"

A lone robin joins the cardinals at Volz feeding station

Mr. and Mrs. G. Rex Volz, N. Belmont ave., Arlington Heights, are getting a lot of enjoyment feeding the birds during the winter. Their special joy is a pair of cardinals who return each year bringing their babies with them. When the feed box is empty, Mrs. Cardinal goes to the kitchen window to let Mrs. Volz know that it is meal time for the birds. Sunflower seed is their special delight.

Of course, there are other birds, even sparrows who wax fat at the Volz bird feeding station, but the Volz find their efforts well repaid in watching their feathered friends. Wednesday morning Mrs. Volz saw her first robin, whether it is a "hangover" from last fall or an early bird, it is a gamble. Anyway, the presence of the robin reminds one that spring is not so very far off.

How Arlington backed the war effort during 1944

Postoffice played Santa Xmas Eve

Arlington Heights postoffice employees will remember probably until next Christmas the strenuous hours they spent in handling the 1944 Christmas mail. They rather enjoyed the work and as a final gesture of the Christmas spirit reported for duty Sunday, cleaning up the last of the mail then in the office. Two trucks made parcel post deliveries during the day. It was the greatest job ever asked of the Arlington office, breaking all records for the number of cancellations and the number of packages received and dispatched.

There are a lot of people who did mail early, but there were so many who waited until the last moment that there were many Christmas greeting cards that did not reach the addresses until after Christmas.

Christmas mail continued to arrive in such volume on Tuesday, the day after Christmas, that two trucks handled the packages and extra carriers were necessary.

Mrs. Virginia Dodge, postmaster and her assistant, Louis Zinkel, were well prepared for the avalanch of mail that arrived at the office. A substation handled the parcel post with deliveries direct from the station to the homes.

Mrs. Dodge expreses her appreciation to the public which placed eighty per cent of their 1½c matter into the large box in the lobby. This enabled the postoffice to handle the business and all first class mail expediously.

The cancelling machine handled 31,300 pieces of matter on Tuesday and a total of 72,000 for the five days preceeding Christmas. The previous high record for one day was 28,000 a year ago.

To handle so much mail with many extra helpers required careful planning and to the credit of the regular employees the 'production line' worked perfectly.

Celebrate when Red Cross worker passes 1,000 hours

The Thursday Red Cross production unit in Arlington Heights that meets at the field house on Thursdays was able to celebrate as well as work last week. Mrs. Harry Ruppel had completed 1,000 hours of volunteer Red Cross service. The unit was so proud of her that they made it an occasion for cake, coffee, and congratulatins.

Mrs. Ruppel has two stars in her window, one for her son and one for her son-in-law. She is doing her part and more, like many other mothers and wives in Arlington Heights.

The Thursday Red Cross sewing group will make surgical dressings on Thursdays until further notice. This is because the need for surgical dressings is so urgent. Everyone is urged to come to the house on Thursday any time from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. One hour, two hours, ½ day or all day. No time is too short. Come and go as you wish but above all COME.

Santa Claus brings a daughter to Prospect Heights family

Santa Claus' Christmas present to the Iver Iversons, Rand rd. this year was a son weighing 9 pounds, born on Christmas Eve to Mrs. Iverson at the Des Plaines Northwestern hospital. They have one other child, a daughter Marilyn.

Clothing exchange open new hours

Mt. Prospect clothing exchange has announced that they will be open Thursday, January 4, and every week thereafter on Thursday from 9:00 to 11:30 a. m. Those interested in ice skates, rubbers or galoshes are urged to see the exchange selection. They are located at the northwest corner of Busse and Main streets.

ANNUAL MEETING OF MUTUAL COUNTY FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

The 70th annual meeting of the Mutual County Fire Insurance Company of Mt. Prospect will be held Tuesday, January 9, 1945, at one o'clock p. m. at the Lutheran school hall, Mt. Prospect, Ill., for the purpose of the election of directors whose terms expire and to hear the annual reports of the officers.

George F. Meyer, President
George Busse, Secretary.

Dear Neighbor:

When I wrote you last week I promised facts and figures on the results of the 6th War Loan Drive, and really you and our Victory Volunteers have done a marvelous piece of work. You've established a record of bond purchases which is something to be mighty proud of. Mr. Paul Miller, the drive chairman, is to be commended for the organization pattern he cut; the pieces fitted together perfectly, and we can certainly see the results of his carefully planned campaign. And yet, what's a perfect pattern without material with which to work, and Mr. Miller told me that his workers were "all wool and a yard wide." There's something more to this—you who bought the bonds complete the picture of the pattern, material, and resulting product.

Teamwork—that's what has made actual individual sales at the bank total to date $132,000 and overall sales $200,000. There are a few more days left—until the end of the week—and the wa this week has started out, it looks as if the individual sales will pass $140,000. Now, isn't that something? Might even be more, because the Victory Volunteers, who are now busy adding results and tallying reports, find there are a number of subscriptions yet to be taken up. These will be paid, no doubt, before the close of business Saturday, and they'll certainly swell the final figure.

I heard yesterday of one district that had $25,000 in actua subscriptions; practically three times as much as in the 5th drive That record was hung up by that hard-working, enthusiastic pair, Sam Baker and his co-chairman of the Southwest District—west of State Road and south of the High way, but NOT including the business district. Good work, fellows

Did you get some money for Christmas? Why not put it to work right away in the war effort by buying a bond? You've got a few more days—in fact until the close of business Saturday and your purchase will count in the 6th War Loan figures. Our Victory Volunteers will be all thru with their adding and checking and tallying, and next week I can give you official results.

Arlington Heights, indeed the City of Good Neighbors, can face the New Year, heads up, knowin they're gone over the top with a bang on the 6th War Loan.

Sincerely,
Your Neighbor.

Bundles Xmas stocking drive nets $836

The Arlington Heights Unit for Bundles for America wishes to report that its annual Christmas stocking drive for service men was an outstanding success in that a total sum of $836 was raised. We are taking this opportunity to publicly thank the townspeople, business men, civic organizations and clubs for their generous contributions. We wish also to thank the girls of the Arlington Heights high school who devoted their time and efforts in canvassing the village. The people of Arlington Heights may well be proud that they have taken a part in making this a merrier Christmas for our boys.

Mrs. V. S. Curtis. Jr.,
Chairman of the Christmas Stocking Drive.

Rev. Geo. W. Goebel pastor of Des Plaines church 25 years

Last Sunday mark—ed the 25th anniversary of the Rev. Geo. W. Goebel as pastor of Christ Evangelical and Reformed Church of Des Plaines. He came to Des Plaines 25 years ago from Pekin, Ill., where for 13 years he was pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church, now one of the strongest churches in the North Illinois synod. His first charge was in Elmwood Place, Ohio, a suburb of Cincinnati, where he served 12½ years. Rev. Goebel is a graduate of Elmhurst College of which his father was president many years ago.

He received his theological education in Eden Semniary, St. Louis, Mo., and McCormick Seminary, Chicago, from which he was graduated fifty years ago. Christ Evangelical and Reformed Church of Des Plaines has an approximate communicant membership of 500. Two years ago the church celebrated its 50th anniversary and the pastor at the same time the 50th ordaination to the ministry.

Rev. Goebel served his denomination the former Evangelical Synod of North America, in various capacities. For 6 years as president and 3 years as vice-president of the North Illinois District, also as a member of various boards and as a delegate to general conferences.

Gave generously in all drives for funds

The people of Arlington Heights are war conscious. When the local history is written of the part Arlington Heights played during 1944 in the present war, it will be a story of loyalty and of over-quota achievements.

Local people in many ways demonstrated that the Community of Good Neighbors is not a town of war slackers. Its citizens were generous of their time and dollars. As drive followed drive the community did not say "we have had enough." Instead it opened its pocketbooks a little wider and the indivdiual dug a little deeper to find more and still more paper money to swell totals for war fund, Xmas seals, infantile paralysis, Red Cross, Boy and Girl Scouts and the other civic and national war projects that needed doing and in which Arlington Heights was delegated to have a part.

And the job was not finished until its citizens had purchased during the year three quarters of a million dollars worth of war bonds during the 4th, 5th and 6th war loan drives.

The Red Cross blood bank unit made two trips to Arlington Heights during the year, the first in February when 300 pints were accepted by the Red Cross and the second in September when 317 pints of blood were received by the blood bank. On the books of the Red Cross Arlington Heights is credited with 994 pints of blood in three visits of the blood bank unit here.

Arlington Heights exceeded its Polio quota by 160 per cent, raising $821 during January and February.

The Boy Scout drive for funds in March netted over $1400, the largest sum ever raised for that purpose in the community in recent years.

Announcement was made in February that the 1943 Christmas Seal receipts were $737.76.

Arlington Heights largest volunteer contribution during the year was to the Red Cross roll call in March-April when a total of $7,000 was collected.

The collection of salvage and old newspapers has a double purpose. The government needs the paper and the rent and other expenses of the local OPA office are paid from the OCD share of the money received from the sale of the old papers. The total received from their sale during 1944 was $800, half of which wentt to the Boy Scout fund and the other half to the OCD.

The community July 4th celebration netted $3600, forty per cent of which went to the recreation fund, making possible a summer playtime project and the remainding $2100 going to the permanent Memorial fund, which now totals $3600.

The war fund compaign, that was recently completed exceeded its quota and $5000 was turned over to the USO and kindred agencies that benefit from that campaign.

The Traveling Bank has forwarded $1499 to Arlington boys who are in service.

A drive for funds for the Girl Scouts held in November, totaled $930.10.

Bundles for America collected $836 for Christmas stockings during December.

The above tells only of the dollars and cents that Arlington Heights people have officially contributed to further the war effort. No attempt has been made to itemize the value of the work that has been done by the Red Cross workers in the sewing and surgical dressing units. They amount to hundreds and thousands of hours given by the women of the communtiy. The demand for surgical dressings has become so great that Arlington is way behind on its quota and in an effort to get near the quota, workers in all branches of Red Cross work will turn to making surgical dressings during January.

There is another side to Red Cross work that is not realized by many local people. The local general Red Cross chairman, George Schneberger, has answered 150 calls during the year to aid the wives of families of men in service or to secure furloughs for those in whose families death or serious illnesses have occurred.

Few homes without Christmas cheer

Any distribution of Christmas baskets in Arlington Heights this year was done by private individuals. In the opinion of relief authorities there was little need for the usual baskets as practically all families have members who are employed. Supervisor Gilbert Klehm, Wheeling township, informed Paddock Publications this week that he has only 17 families on the relief rolls.

American Legion auxiliary notes

If the weather continues cold on January 2nd it will be necessary for the American Legion Auxiliary to hold its business meeting in a place that is sure of being heated. Call Mrs. May, 767, to find where the meeting will be held.

The president and rehabilitation chairman, Iva Jones, took seventy-seven Christmas packages to the patients in Elgin hospital on Sunday morning, December 24.

PEO dolls are awarded

The dolls, which were raffled by Chapter FW of PEO, were won by two Arlington Heights residents, Mrs. E. D. Ackerman, 206 W. Campbell, the baby doll, and Judy Johnston, 532 Banbury rd., the little girl doll.

The members of the chapter wish to thank Emerald Shop for displaying and selling chances on the dolls.

Shoes

The Office of Price Administration took steps to increase future supplies of non-rationed footwear by officially classifying that pigskin leather may be used for nonrationed shoes. This type of footwear is largely a wartime development. Ultimately the new shoes will be mainly available in infant's, children's, misses' and women's sizes. OPA cautioned that the shoes with pigskin uppers will not be available in quantity for some time as very little raw material is at present being tanned into leather.

The OPA has set ceiling prices on two types of army shoes for men, which the Treasury Procurement Division proposes to sell for civilian use. Retail ceiling will be $6.50 a pair on both types, one of which is leather soled with leather tap over the sole, and the other a leather soled shoe with outside rubber tap. Both types are russet tan with straight tips and bellows tongue.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 24.

The Golden Text was, "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined" (Isa. 9: 2).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord . . . For he received from God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased . . . We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts" (II Peter 1: 2, 17, 19).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus was the highest human concept of the perfect man. He was inseparable from Christ, the Messiah,—the divine idea of God outside the flesh . . . Angels announced to the Wisemen of old this dual appearing, and angels whisper it, through faith, to the hungering heart in every age" (p. 482).

Eastern Star notes

New officers of the Arlington O. E. S. chapter presided in their various offices most efficiently for the first time on Thursday evening, December 14. They were welcomed by an enthusiastic audience.

The Christmas party sponsored by the Eastern Star and Masonic organizations for their children and members on Thursday evening, December 22, is reported as being one of the most enjoyable parties ever given. The magician proved to be most entertaining and the gifts and refreshments were pleasing to both children and adults.

Thursday evening, December 28, there will be a stated meeting of the chapter. A Christmas party will follow. An especially pleasant evening is being planned. Santa Claus will make an appearance and each member is requested to bring a 25c article for the gift exchange. Members, do not fail to attend, as a good time is assured.

Nine members of the Past Worthy Matrons club enjoyed dinner at Arlington Cafe Wednesday evening, December 20. Later the group adjourned to the home of Mrs. Alfred Jasper where a party with gift exchange followed and the names of secret pals of the past year were revealed. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Completes 30th year with Com. Edison

Receiving the congratulations and best wishes of his fellow employees last week was Arnold R. Hatch, 214 S. Elmhurst ave., Mt. Prospect, who on Tuesday, December 19, rounded out his 30th consecutive year of service with Commonwealth Edison company. He entered the Chicago utility's employ in 1914 as an apprentice substation operator and is currently a senior draftsman in the engineering department.

Mr. Hatch studied electrical engineering evenings at Lewis institute and was graduated with a bachelor of science degree in 1935. Three hobbies—amateur movies, model building and music—occupy much of his leisure time. He is a former secretary of the Edison Camera club and for many years played the flute in the Edison Symphony orchestra and several military bands.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatch have given three sons to Uncle Sam's armed forces. Robert, a private first class in the Infantry and also a Commonwealth Edison employe, was recently wounded in action somewhere in France. Marvin, a corporal in the Signal Corps, and Stanton, an infantry private, are stationed in Florida.

Fish

While all America's farmers in the hinterland have been checking in another bumper crop of the principal canned vegetables and fruits, our fishermen on the coast have been matching this enormous farm contribution to winning the war with a sizeable haul of fish.

Packers and container plants on the Maine coast, have been working to capacity with more cans manufactured and delivered in the current season than in any previous year in order to accommodate a record sardine catch.

A similar condition is reported as prevailing in British Columbia where Canadian fishermen, packers and can makers, working on a three-shifts-a-day basis, have raised the herring pack from a pre-war total of about 50,000 cases a year to a total of 1,300,000 cases for the past year.

American Legion auxiliary notes

If the weather continues cold on January 2nd it will be necessary for the American Legion Auxiliary to hold its business meeting in a place that is sure of being heated. Call Mrs. May, 767, to find where the meeting will be held.

The president and rehabilitation chairman, Iva Jones, took seventy-seven Christmas packages to the patients in Elgin hospital on Sunday morning, December 24.

PEO dolls are awarded

The dolls, which were raffled by Chapter FW of PEO, were won by two Arlington Heights residents, Mrs. E. D. Ackerman, 206 W. Campbell, the baby doll, and Judy Johnston, 532 Banbury rd., the little girl doll.

The members of the chapter wish to thank Emerald Shop for displaying and selling chances on the dolls.

Shoes

The Office of Price Administration took steps to increase future supplies of non-rationed footwear by officially classifying that pigskin leather may be used for nonrationed shoes. This type of footwear is largely a wartime development. Ultimately the new shoes will be mainly available in infant's, children's, misses' and women's sizes. OPA cautioned that the shoes with pigskin uppers will not be available in quantity for some time as very little raw material is at present being tanned into leather.

The OPA has set ceiling prices on two types of army shoes for men, which the Treasury Procurement Division proposes to sell for civilian use. Retail ceiling will be $6.50 a pair on both types, one of which is leather soled with leather tap over the sole, and the other a leather soled shoe with outside rubber tap. Both types are russet tan with straight tips and bellows tongue.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 24.

The Golden Text was, "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined" (Isa. 9: 2).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord . . . For he received from God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased . . . We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts" (II Peter 1: 2, 17, 19).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus was the highest human concept of the perfect man. He was inseparable from Christ, the Messiah,—the divine idea of God outside the flesh . . . Angels announced to the Wisemen of old this dual appearing, and angels whisper it, through faith, to the hungering heart in every age" (p. 482).

Eastern Star notes

New officers of the Arlington O. E. S. chapter presided in their various offices most efficiently for the first time on Thursday evening, December 14. They were welcomed by an enthusiastic audience.

The Christmas party sponsored by the Eastern Star and Masonic organizations for their children and members on Thursday evening, December 22, is reported as being one of the most enjoyable parties ever given. The magician proved to be most entertaining and the gifts and refreshments were pleasing to both children and adults.

Thursday evening, December 28, there will be a stated meeting of the chapter. A Christmas party will follow. An especially pleasant evening is being planned. Santa Claus will make an appearance and each member is requested to bring a 25c article for the gift exchange. Members, do not fail to attend, as a good time is assured.

Nine members of the Past Worthy Matrons club enjoyed dinner at Arlington Cafe Wednesday evening, December 20. Later the group adjourned to the home of Mrs. Alfred Jasper where a party with gift exchange followed and the names of secret pals of the past year were revealed. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Completes 30th year with Com. Edison

Receiving the congratulations and best wishes of his fellow employees last week was Arnold R. Hatch, 214 S. Elmhurst ave., Mt. Prospect, who on Tuesday, December 19, rounded out his 30th consecutive year of service with Commonwealth Edison company. He entered the Chicago utility's employ in 1914 as an apprentice substation operator and is currently a senior draftsman in the engineering department.

Mr. Hatch studied electrical engineering evenings at Lewis institute and was graduated with a bachelor of science degree in 1935. Three hobbies—amateur movies, model building and music—occupy much of his leisure time. He is a former secretary of the Edison Camera club and for many years played the flute in the Edison Symphony orchestra and several military bands.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatch have given three sons to Uncle Sam's armed forces. Robert, a private first class in the Infantry and also a Commonwealth Edison employe, was recently wounded in action somewhere in France. Marvin, a corporal in the Signal Corps, and Stanton, an infantry private, are stationed in Florida.

Fish

While all America's farmers in the hinterland have been checking in another bumper crop of the principal canned vegetables and fruits, our fishermen on the coast have been matching this enormous farm contribution to winning the war with a sizeable haul of fish.

Packers and container plants on the Maine coast, have been working to capacity with more cans manufactured and delivered in the current season than in any previous year in order to accommodate a record sardine catch.

A similar condition is reported as prevailing in British Columbia where Canadian fishermen, packers and can makers, working on a three-shifts-a-day basis, have raised the herring pack from a pre-war total of about 50,000 cases a year to a total of 1,300,000 cases for the past year.

THANK YOU

Welcome to the year of grace, 1945, and may it bring you much more in the way of health and happiness than your most hopeful expectations.

Thank you a thousand times for past favors. We promise to do everything in our power to merit your continued friendship.

THE CHINESE pay off all debts on their New Year's Day, even though the wherewithal must be borrowed at ruinous interest rates.

We owe a debt of gratitude to the people of this town—a debt that we can only pay off by giving the finest values and service it is possible to give. This we pledge to do in 1945. And for the immediate present—a VERY HAPPY NEW YEAR to you and yours.

January foods

Housewives might well make a note on their shopping calendar for next month that plentiful foods for January will include the following: Onions, eggs and fresh apples (especially lower grade apples) in the unprocessed food class. And, in processed foods, peanut butter, jams (except berry types), jellies, apple butter, citrus marmalade, frozen vegetables, frozen baked beans, dry mixed and dehydrated soups, soya flour, soya grits, soya flakes, wheat flour and bread, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles and oatmeal. These will be available over most of the country.

Yuletide at Rest Home

The Rest Home was made bright and pretty with a Christmas tree on each floor and many bouquets of beautiful flowers and plants also added to the picture.

The Young People of Arlington Heights were generous in their caroling at the Home. The first group to come were the young people from St. John's Evangelical church under the leadership of Mrs. Kamphenkel.

Betty Coy, Esther Stoeckel, Lucille Horcher, Lorraine Heidorn and Evelyn Wilke played on their harmonicas a number of the lovely Christmas carols and Burneta Burns, Marie Tischer and Margaret Dahm sang with the group.

A large group from the mixed chorus of the North school, under the direction of Mrs. Snetsinger, sang many of the loved Christmas carols.

Troops 1 and 5 of the Girl Scouts of Arlington Heights accompanied by Mrs. Walton and Mrs. Chidley also sang a number of the Christmas carols.

These young people all brought joy to the guests of the Home and were happy as they rendered this real service.

Mrs. Etta Shaffer enjoyed a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Horan of De Kalb, Ill., and her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shaffer of Chicago.

Mr. Peter N. Heberg had a Christmas party with his relatives who called at the Home. The folks who provided this party were his sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olsen of Chicago, his two daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Busch and Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Schneider, and their children, Dorothy and Bud Schneider, all of Chicago.

Misses Frances and Amy Crisler of Glen Ellyn visited with their aunt, Miss Eugenie Crisler, on Saturday. Miss Ella Taylor calls on Miss Crisler frequently. Miss Keeley called on Miss Crisler Christmas. Miss Crisler's Christmas was made brighter by the friends who remembered her with beautiful flowers and many cards of greetings.

Messrs. Paul and Ed Ketterman called at the Home Sunday afternoon to visit their mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bottof and children Glen and Shirley and Mrs. Henry Gehrke, all of Chicago, visited with Mrs. Anna Jahn and Miss Mary Schick on Sunday.

Mrs. Charles B. Moellering of North State Road, visited with friends in the Home Sunday evening and brought a box of the lovely Christmas cookies which she makes.

Mrs. Harry Striggow of South Dunton also remembered the Home with some of the fine Christmas cookies which she also makes. These acts of kindness are much appreciated.

Mrs. Caddie A. Kern of Willowbrook Farm, is spending the fall and winter at the Home while her son, Mr. L. D. Kern, and his family are wintering in Mexico. Mrs. Kern had many callers and greetings from her friends during the holidays. Among those who called were her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Kern, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans and their son Denny, of North Dunton. Bobby Evans was ill on Christmas day so he was unable to be with his auntie. All of these relatives call frequently and add to the comfort of their mother and aunt. Word comes from the son, Mr. L. D. Kern, that he and his family are enjoying their stay in Mexico.

Mrs. Paul Incapreo of South Dunton is helping in the care of the patients in the Home. Her help is appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Shirley, Mrs. Hansen's brother, and daughter Florence, visited in the Home Christmas afternoon and evening. Mrs. Shirley is one of Mrs. Bond's daughters. Mrs. Bond's other daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schuler of Chicago also called with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Norman of Palatine at the Home Christmas evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Hansen went to Chicago Tuesday and celebrated the birthday of Mr. Hansen's brother, Mr. Charles C. Shirley. Almost all of the family were present and enjoyed the evening at the old home.

Mr. C. G. Bullis of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Colby of Waukegan and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson I. Bullis of Woodstock visited with Mother Bullis on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan W. Sanford, 97 and 91, respectively, who were married on Christmas day 71 years ago in Elkhart, Logan county, celebrated their wedding anniversary yesterday in Arlington Heights Res home, where they have resided for a year and a half.

The couple was visited by many friends and by one of two granddaughters, Mrs. Paul D. Stroud, who also lives in Arlington Heights. The other granddaughter, Mrs. William A. Bishop, resides in Urbana, Champaign county.

Mrs. E. H. Sanford of Lincoln Illinois, Mrs. Stroud's mother, visited with the Sanfords several times during the holidays, and was also with them on Christmas.

Cars and tires

A total of 3,000 automobiles makes up the national quota of new motor cars available for sale this month—the same amount as in November. December passenger car tire quotas, however, will be 150,000 units higher, or 2,000,000 tires, than in the preceding month, OPA states a slightly higher quota of truck tires spells little or no relief from shortages in this category.

"MISS PARKER, THIS IS WAR - NOT CHRISTMAS!"

Just Around the Corner

by ELEANOR MILSTEAD

Dear Mary:

Would it be a lot to ask of you that you write to me once every two weeks. I find I have so many things I want to ask you far past legitimate telephone conversation length. Somehow I think a column like mine gets very single-tracked. I'd enjoy so much having your response to my mental meanderings and the stimulation such response offers. Let me know if you can find time to do this. Mr. Paddock would be pleased, and we both feel that our correspondence (yours and mine) would help make up for the "Life With Mother" which so many people have missed in the Herald.

We had a beautiful Christmas, although we were a little lonely — just the three of us, and could not avoid being saddened by cards from friends, who are bearing heavy burdens this year.

We open our presents on Christmas eve now that Santa Claus is busy with younger children than Ken Jr. We gathered around our little thorn tree and sang carols to the accompaniment of a song flute taken out of one of the stockings we haven't given up.

Bless young Ken, he had covered a match box (one side with sand paper, the rest with plain) for me, and made at school a clay ash tray for his dad. He got his basketball although we felt this was not the year nor the time of the year for it. Big Ken was delighted with his pen and pencil and I with my lovely old table cloth. It's solid red and it made our simple Christmas dinner seem quite festive. Shooter sniffed appreciatively at his stocking which was crammed with good wishes (invisible gifts are a splendid kind, young Ken insists).

Grandmother Fair had sent us one of her incomparable fruit cakes — dark and moist. The Milstead's box had in it unpopped corn, a plane for Ken Jr., an apron for me manufactured from one of their grocery store flour sacks, a set of Sunday - Monday - Tuesday - Wednesday - Thursday - Friday - Saturday dish towels and home made candy. Speaking of home made candy my sister, Elizabeth, sent the most professional looking chocolates you ever saw. In this sugarless day the house is full of candy. I made big Ken hide it before he left this morning. I'm a shameless muncher.

I can imagine what a joyous tumultous holiday you had and I am eager to hear about it.

I'll bet your trees in that first oil DO look like trees and if they don't — who cares? Gladys liked it and her judgment is good enough for me. Your quotation from "Get in There and Paint" will give me comfort when I do gather my courage and brushes to try.

Goodness — if you can't write to me I don't know what I'll do. Mrs. Maude Parker has loaned me a cook-book sixty years old, complete with worm holes, and I am so anxious to see what you think of its "Advice To A Young Wife," Home Remedies, etc. Mrs. Parker says some of the recipes are impractical now calling for butter and bananas, cream and pineapple, as they do. I'm still looking forward to examining Mrs. Fritz's book. Do you have any old cook books in your family? Danish ones should certainly be fascinating.

Wasn't PTA fun? I think our Arlington Heights one is marvelous. I was very proud of Hazel.

I'll be watching for your letter, Mary.

Lovingly,
Elly.

Residents of Old Folks Home enjoy Christmas

The wonderful turnout for the open house service at the Lutheran Old Folks home, Arlington Heights on Tuesday afternoon, was most gratifying. Regardless of the weather many visitors from Evanston and surrounding communities were present.

Dr. J. W. Behnken, president of the general synod of Missouri, Iowa and other states, occupied the pulpit in the pastoral service.

A host of people visited the home before and during the holy days. Among them were the troops of girl scouts of Arlington Heights, Elmwood Park and Des Plaines, groups of girls from the high school, the elementary North school of Arlington Heights and the Walther League of Arlington Heights St. Peter church, all of whom sang carols for the residents. The girls of the Mt. Prospect Baptist church and various Ladies Aid groups brought gifts and caroled at the home.

Thursday, December 21, a portion of members of the visiting committee of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Old Folks home on their own initiative, brought special wrapped gift packages to the individual residents which were distributed by a fully regaled Santa Claus, enacted by one of the residents. They also caroled and entertained the residents and the sick. On Christmas day each resident received a neatly packed personal gift which they had previously indicated they wished by request of the superintendent and his wife.

Many gifts of cakes, cookies and fruits, too numerous to enumerate, were received.

Vet loans

American communities have a stake in the fact that the Federal Housing Administration has acted to speed the making of insured home loans to veterans by private institutions under the terms of the G. I. Bill of Rights. The FHA is now accepting at its field offices from private lending agencies applications for the insurance of principle loans supplemented by loans under section 505 of the G. I. Bill. These are cases where the Veterans Administration guarantees an equity loan not to exceed $2,000, and where the principal loan, which must comply with FHA regulations, is insured by FHA. The Federal Agency seeks all possible protection of veterans in what may be the most important single financial transaction in their life.

Pin spotters

THINGS TO COME—For bowling alleys, a machine which automatically sets up the pins, returns the balls and keeps the scores of the players. It is reported to be fully developed and ready to be put into production as soon as war restrictions are lifted . . . Superfine dress fabrics of rayon as result of a war-born yarn which can be spun so fine that there are almost 30 miles of it in each pound of cloth . . . Ten million zippers, declared surplus by the Army Quartermaster Depot. A sizeable quantity will be available over retail counters, and the balance will be returned to makers of wearing apparel and luggage.

Farm machinery

One measure of the concentration on war needs is the fact that the War Production Board finds output of farm machinery, exclusive of wheeled tractors, repair parts and attachments, about 25 per cent behind manufacturers schedules for the four months ended October 31. Military needs, more critical than in recent months, are creating shortages in components for farm machinery.

OBITUARIES

Julius Heimsoth

Julius L. Heimsoth of 7 N. Belmonth ave., Arlington Heights, passed away suddenly Friday, December 22, at the age of 45 years, 7 months and 10 days.

Mr. Heimsoth was born May 12, 1899, in Elk Grove Township. May 25, 1929, he was united in marriage to Miss Laura Kruse at Schaumburg by Rev. Theiss. After their marriage this couple made their home in Schaumburg for a short while and for about a year at Roselle. For the past 14 years they lived at Arlington Heights.

He leaves to mourn his sudden departure, his loving wife Laura, and four children, Victor, Mary Ann, Ralph and Elaine; a father, Herman Heimsoth; a mother-in-law, Mrs. Elisa Kruse; two brothers, Hugo and Herman Heimsoth; nine sisters-in-law, seven brothers-in-law; three aunts and one uncle, Louis Heimsoth, Mrs. Mary Goeddeke and Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Heimsoth.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, December 25, from Karstens Funeral Home, Arlington Heights, to St. Peter Ev. Luth. Church, Arlington Heights. Interment in Euclid Lawn cemetery.

Special war bond

The Treasury has a bond especially for the older people, but many of them don't know about it, the agricultural section of the war Finance Division points out. This is the current income series G-Bond paying 2½ percent interest per annum every six months and maturing in 12 years.

Any person who needs regular income from interest on their money should consider the G-Series. For a current income Government Bond maturing in 12 years, 2½ percent is a high rate of interest, the Treasury points out. Current income is not the only G Bond feature that appeals to the older investor. Like the popular E Bonds the G Series has fixed redemption values. They can be cashed anytime after 6 months from issue. Counting interest already received, this cash redemption value is always more than cost. In the event of owner's death the estate can redeem G Bonds at full cost price without any deduction for interest already received. This makes G Bonds ideal for an estate.

Rubber

One thing that can be counted upon to help provide more jobs after the war will be the existence of new low-cost raw materials or of materials which, because of extraordinary performance qualities, are low-cost in effect. This was emphasized by John L. Collyer, president of the B. F. Goodrich company, in addressing the Society of the Plastics Industry. The rubber executive predicted wide-open competition between natural rubber and synthetic rubber for many uses, and that "whichever is soundest economically" will get the call in any given case.

Here, he said, is the road to expanding markets, increased production, more jobs, and better products. Rubber-like plastics are in the picture also, Collyer declared. He said that during the past two years more polyvinyl chloride and other plastics have been used in roles formerly filled by rubber than all of the tree rubber obtained in that time from South and Central American sources combined.

Store house

"John, dear, I'm tired of paying rent for this dump. Let's buy that vacant lot up the street, buy ourselves a home downtown tomorrow, and move in a week from Saturday."

This is a plausible conversation for a few years after the war on the basis of plans now projected by the Homosote company for nationwide distribution of houses that can be erected ready for occupancy in six days.

The homes would be sold at retail, just like stoves or wheelbarrows, through department stores, lumber yards, and building supply dealers. Contractors and builders could also obtain licenses to sell the homes, as well as insurance companies, banks, and other lending institutions, and industrial companies for their own employees. It is said that a 24x28-ft. home, complete with all bathroom and kitchen equipment, will sell for as little as $2,000. The buyer would not be limited to a handful of designs either, but could order any shape or type of house he wanted.

August Holtz

Funeral services for Mr. August Holtz, 226 South Mitchell street, Arlington Heights, will be held Thursday afternoon from Lauterburg & Oehler funeral home to St. Peter Lutheran church at two o'clock, Rev. Stphan officiating. Intrment will be in Euclid Lawn. Mr. Holtz passed away Christmas morning after two weeks of acute illness. He had been ill five months.

There remain his wife, two son, charles of Mt. Prospect and Edward; four daughters, Mrs. Martha Clausen, Mrs. Eda Mein, Norwood Park, Mrs. Naomi Schroll, Lombard and Mrs. Della Larson, Chicago; 13 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren. There are also two brothers, Chas. and Otto of Chicago, and one sister, Mrs. Albertine Meyers, Waukegan.

Deceased was born in Germany Feb. 3, 1865. He came to America when 17 years old, settling in Chicago, his family followng a few years later. He was employed for a number of years on the Luntz farm, West Campbell street which was later subdiivded. He chose his recent home because it was on the same land where he plowed and cultivated as afarm hand.

He was employed 42 years for the North Western, retiring nine years ago when he became 70 years old.

Job bonanza

Ever since the war began, servicemen have been told that there will be jobs awaiting them when they return. However, few have stated specifically where this employment will be found.

Joseph W. Frazer, chairman of Graham-Paige Motors corporation, took note of that fact when he predicted recently that returning servicemen will find an "untapped job bonanza" in the sales and servicing branch of the automobile industry—and backed up his statement with facts and figures.

The auto executive pointed out that today the industry needs 100,000 mechanics to meet minimum repair needs on the home front; that in 1939 there were 44,000 automobile dealers while today there are some 30,000, with only about 75 per cent of them active; that the service station field, which has suffered the highest mortality rate in the industry during the war, will blossom when peace comes; and that in 1941 approximately 500,000 persons built 3,577,292 automobiles, while the industry is planning to build 6,000,000 vehicles in the first year of unrestricted production, and 25,000,000 in the first five years.

January foods

Housewives might well make a note on their shopping calendar for next month that plentiful foods for January will include the following: Onions, eggs and fresh apples (especially lower grade apples) in the unprocessed food class. And, in processed foods, peanut butter, jams (except berry types), jellies, apple butter, citrus marmalade, frozen vegetables, frozen baked beans, dry mixed and dehydrated soups, soya flour, soya grits, soya flakes, wheat flour and bread, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles and oatmeal. These will be available over most of the country.

Yuletide at Rest Home

The Rest Home was made bright and pretty with a Christmas tree on each floor and many bouquets of beautiful flowers and plants also added to the picture.

The Young People of Arlington Heights were generous in their caroling at the Home. The first group to come were the young people from St. John's Evangelical church under the leadership of Mrs. Kamphenkel.

Betty Coy, Esther Stoeckel, Lucille Horcher, Lorraine Heidorn and Evelyn Wilke played on their harmonicas a number of the lovely Christmas carols and Burneta Burns, Marie Tischer and Margaret Dahm sang with the group.

A large group from the mixed chorus of the North school, under the direction of Mrs. Snetsinger, sang many of the loved Christmas carols.

Troops 1 and 5 of the Girl Scouts of Arlington Heights accompanied by Mrs. Walton and Mrs. Chidley also sang a number of the Christmas carols.

These young people all brought joy to the guests of the Home and were happy as they rendered this real service.

Mrs. Etta Shaffer enjoyed a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Horan of De Kalb, Ill., and her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shaffer of Chicago.

Mr. Peter N. Heberg had a Christmas party with his relatives who called at the Home. The folks who provided this party were his sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olsen of Chicago, his two daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Busch and Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Schneider, and their children, Dorothy and Bud Schneider, all of Chicago.

Misses Frances and Amy Crisler of Glen Ellyn visited with their aunt, Miss Eugenie Crisler, on Saturday. Miss Ella Taylor calls on Miss Crisler frequently. Miss Keeley called on Miss Crisler Christmas. Miss Crisler's Christmas was made brighter by the friends who remembered her with beautiful flowers and many cards of greetings.

Messrs. Paul and Ed Ketterman called at the Home Sunday afternoon to visit their mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bottof and children Glen and Shirley and Mrs. Henry Gehrke, all of Chicago, visited with Mrs. Anna Jahn and Miss Mary Schick on Sunday.

Mrs. Charles B. Moellering of North State Road, visited with friends in the Home Sunday evening and brought a box of the lovely Christmas cookies which she makes.

Mrs. Harry Striggow of South Dunton also remembered the Home with some of the fine Christmas cookies which she also makes. These acts of kindness are much appreciated.

Mrs. Caddie A. Kern of Willowbrook Farm, is spending the fall and winter at the Home while her son, Mr. L. D. Kern, and his family are wintering in Mexico. Mrs. Kern had many callers and greetings from her friends during the holidays. Among those who called were her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Kern, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans and their son Denny, of North Dunton. Bobby Evans was ill on Christmas day so he was unable to be with his auntie. All of these relatives call frequently and add to the comfort of their mother and aunt. Word comes from the son, Mr. L. D. Kern, that he and his family are enjoying their stay in Mexico.

Mrs. Paul Incapreo of South Dunton is helping in the care of the patients in the Home. Her help is appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Shirley, Mrs. Hansen's brother, and daughter Florence, visited in the Home Christmas afternoon and evening. Mrs. Shirley is one of Mrs. Bond's daughters. Mrs. Bond's other daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schuler of Chicago also called with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Norman of Palatine at the Home Christmas evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Hansen went to Chicago Tuesday and celebrated the birthday of Mr. Hansen's brother, Mr. Charles C. Shirley. Almost all of the family were present and enjoyed the evening at the old home.

Mr. C. G. Bullis of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Colby of Waukegan and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson I. Bullis of Woodstock visited with Mother Bullis on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan W. Sanford, 97 and 91, respectively, who were married on Christmas day 71 years ago in Elkhart, Logan county, celebrated their wedding anniversary yesterday in Arlington Heights Res home, where they have resided for a year and a half.

The couple was visited by many friends and by one of two granddaughters, Mrs. Paul D. Stroud, who also lives in Arlington Heights. The other granddaughter, Mrs. William A. Bishop, resides in Urbana, Champaign county.

Mrs. E. H. Sanford of Lincoln Illinois, Mrs. Stroud's mother, visited with the Sanfords several times during the holidays, and was also with them on Christmas.

Cars and tires

A total of 3,000 automobiles makes up the national quota of new motor cars available for sale this month—the same amount as in November. December passenger car tire quotas, however, will be 150,000 units higher, or 2,000,000 tires, than in the preceding month, OPA states a slightly higher quota of truck tires spells little or no relief from shortages in this category.

"MISS PARKER, THIS IS WAR - NOT CHRISTMAS!"

Just Around the Corner

by ELEANOR MILSTEAD

Dear Mary:

Would it be a lot to ask of you that you write to me once every two weeks. I find I have so many things I want to ask you far past legitimate telephone conversation length. Somehow I think a column like mine gets very single-tracked. I'd enjoy so much having your response to my mental meanderings and the stimulation such response offers. Let me know if you can find time to do this. Mr. Paddock would be pleased, and we both feel that our correspondence (yours and mine) would help make up for the "Life With Mother" which so many people have missed in the Herald.

We had a beautiful Christmas, although we were a little lonely — just the three of us, and could not avoid being saddened by cards from friends, who are bearing heavy burdens this year.

We open our presents on Christmas eve now that Santa Claus is busy with younger children than Ken Jr. We gathered around our little thorn tree and sang carols to the accompaniment of a song flute taken out of one of the stockings we haven't given up.

Bless young Ken, he had covered a match box (one side with sand paper, the rest with plain) for me, and made at school a clay ash tray for his dad. He got his basketball although we felt this was not the year nor the time of the year for it. Big Ken was delighted with his pen and pencil and I with my lovely old table cloth. It's solid red and it made our simple Christmas dinner seem quite festive. Shooter sniffed appreciatively at his stocking which was crammed with good wishes (invisible gifts are a splendid kind, young Ken insists).

Grandmother Fair had sent us one of her incomparable fruit cakes — dark and moist. The Milstead's box had in it unpopped corn, a plane for Ken Jr., an apron for me manufactured from one of their grocery store flour sacks, a set of Sunday - Monday - Tuesday - Wednesday - Thursday - Friday - Saturday dish towels and home made candy. Speaking of home made candy my sister, Elizabeth, sent the most professional looking chocolates you ever saw. In this sugarless day the house is full of candy. I made big Ken hide it before he left this morning. I'm a shameless muncher.

I can imagine what a joyous tumultous holiday you had and I am eager to hear about it.

I'll bet your trees in that first oil DO look like trees and if they don't — who cares? Gladys liked it and her judgment is good enough for me. Your quotation from "Get in There and Paint" will give me comfort when I do gather my courage and brushes to try.

Goodness — if you can't write to me I don't know what I'll do. Mrs. Maude Parker has loaned me a cook-book sixty years old, complete with worm holes, and I am so anxious to see what you think of its "Advice To A Young Wife," Home Remedies, etc. Mrs. Parker says some of the recipes are impractical now calling for butter and bananas, cream and pineapple, as they do. I'm still looking forward to examining Mrs. Fritz's book. Do you have any old cook books in your family? Danish ones should certainly be fascinating.

Wasn't PTA fun? I think our Arlington Heights one is marvelous. I was very proud of Hazel.

I'll be watching for your letter, Mary.

Lovingly,
Elly.

Residents of Old Folks Home enjoy Christmas

The wonderful turnout for the open house service at the Lutheran Old Folks home, Arlington Heights on Tuesday afternoon, was most gratifying. Regardless of the weather many visitors from Evanston and surrounding communities were present.

Dr. J. W. Behnken, president of the general synod of Missouri, Iowa and other states, occupied the pulpit in the pastoral service.

A host of people visited the home before and during the holy days. Among them were the troops of girl scouts of Arlington Heights, Elmwood Park and Des Plaines, groups of girls from the high school, the elementary North school of Arlington Heights and the Walther League of Arlington Heights St. Peter church, all of whom sang carols for the residents. The girls of the Mt. Prospect Baptist church and various Ladies Aid groups brought gifts and caroled at the home.

Thursday, December 21, a portion of members of the visiting committee of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Old Folks home on their own initiative, brought special wrapped gift packages to the individual residents which were distributed by a fully regaled Santa Claus, enacted by one of the residents. They also caroled and entertained the residents and the sick. On Christmas day each resident received a neatly packed personal gift which they had previously indicated they wished by request of the superintendent and his wife.

Many gifts of cakes, cookies and fruits, too numerous to enumerate, were received.

Vet loans

American communities have a stake in the fact that the Federal Housing Administration has acted to speed the making of insured home loans to veterans by private institutions under the terms of the G. I. Bill of Rights. The FHA is now accepting at its field offices from private lending agencies applications for the insurance of principle loans supplemented by loans under section 505 of the G. I. Bill. These are cases where the Veterans Administration guarantees an equity loan not to exceed $2,000, and where the principal loan, which must comply with FHA regulations, is insured by FHA. The Federal Agency seeks all possible protection of veterans in what may be the most important single financial transaction in their life.

Pin spotters

THINGS TO COME—For bowling alleys, a machine which automatically sets up the pins, returns the balls and keeps the scores of the players. It is reported to be fully developed and ready to be put into production as soon as war restrictions are lifted . . . Superfine dress fabrics of rayon as result of a war-born yarn which can be spun so fine that there are almost 30 miles of it in each pound of cloth . . . Ten million zippers, declared surplus by the Army Quartermaster Depot. A sizeable quantity will be available over retail counters, and the balance will be returned to makers of wearing apparel and luggage.

Farm machinery

One measure of the concentration on war needs is the fact that the War Production Board finds output of farm machinery, exclusive of wheeled tractors, repair parts and attachments, about 25 per cent behind manufacturers schedules for the four months ended October 31. Military needs, more critical than in recent months, are creating shortages in components for farm machinery.

OBITUARIES

Julius Heimsoth

Julius L. Heimsoth of 7 N. Belmonth ave., Arlington Heights, passed away suddenly Friday, December 22, at the age of 45 years, 7 months and 10 days.

Mr. Heimsoth was born May 12, 1899, in Elk Grove Township. May 25, 1929, he was united in marriage to Miss Laura Kruse at Schaumburg by Rev. Theiss. After their marriage this couple made their home in Schaumburg for a short while and for about a year at Roselle. For the past 14 years they lived at Arlington Heights.

He leaves to mourn his sudden departure, his loving wife Laura, and four children, Victor, Mary Ann, Ralph and Elaine; a father, Herman Heimsoth; a mother-in-law, Mrs. Elisa Kruse; two brothers, Hugo and Herman Heimsoth; nine sisters-in-law, seven brothers-in-law; three aunts and one uncle, Louis Heimsoth, Mrs. Mary Goeddeke and Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Heimsoth.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, December 25, from Karstens Funeral Home, Arlington Heights, to St. Peter Ev. Luth. Church, Arlington Heights. Interment in Euclid Lawn cemetery.

Special war bond

The Treasury has a bond especially for the older people, but many of them don't know about it, the agricultural section of the war Finance Division points out. This is the current income series G-Bond paying 2½ percent interest per annum every six months and maturing in 12 years.

Any person who needs regular income from interest on their money should consider the G-Series. For a current income Government Bond maturing in 12 years, 2½ percent is a high rate of interest, the Treasury points out. Current income is not the only G Bond feature that appeals to the older investor. Like the popular E Bonds the G Series has fixed redemption values. They can be cashed anytime after 6 months from issue. Counting interest already received, this cash redemption value is always more than cost. ARLINGTON HEIGHTS HERALD
SECTION TWO + SPORTS + MOVIES + WANT ADS

With Uncle Sam

Washington

From Walla Walla, Washington, comes word of Steve Stefanik of Arlington Heights.

"Just a few lines to let you know that I have a new address again, or rather that I've had it for about 3½ months now. You see we were sent up here for combat crew training and we have about completed our training here and are ready to ship out in a few weeks.

"Our original crew has been split up somewhat and now we have a new bombardier and 3 new gunners, also our original squadron has shipped out and left us, along with 5 other crews to ship out sometime in January.

"The training here is rather extensive and is carried on as if we were in a theater of action. We fly from 5 to 7 hours at a time, drop bombs, have gunnery practice, etc. During the bad weather we are having now the radio operator has to keep a continual watch for weather reports and in some cases he brings the plane back by his radio signals. We also do quite a bit of high altitude flying and the temperature really drops up there around 20,000 feet. One time it got down to 25° below.

"However, most of that training is behind us and all we do now is go on a cross-country flight to get navigational and instrument practice. The past few days the ceiling has been down around 500 feet so all flying has been canceled. We are scheduled to fly in the morning but if this ceiling continues to be so low we'll have a day in the "sack" instead."

His address is Cpl. C. M. Stefanik, Sqdn. T-2 AAF, Walla Walla, Washington.

Philippines

We're putting William Nelson of Bensenville in the Philippines, as he participated in the recent battle of the Philippine Sea. He is aboard ship, however.

"Well, here it is two days after our Thanksgiving Day dinner and I'm still full. We really had quite a spread. Young Tom Turkey (white or dark) mashed potatoes, giblet gravy, asparagus tips, peas, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, ice cream, fruit cake, hot coffee, Xmas candy, cigars and cigarettes.

"Have enjoyed beyond words receiving the Du Page Register. Just to know what the 'folks back home' are doing, helps make it a little more enjoyable 'out here'. Keep up the good work of printing your good paper. Haven't as yet met up with any of the boys from home, but am still hoping to some day soon.

"Chaplain Joop and I have been corresponding fairly regularly and Rev. C. J. Krell and Business Women's Club have sent monthly letters and a nice Christmas gift.

"We were in the Battle of the Philippine Sea. Gave the Japs a 'bad time'. We did not receive our mail for quite some time. When I finally did get my mail I had 64 letters, 3 packages and 5 Du Page Registers and 5 other newspapers. Was I in my glory."

His address is Wm. John Nelson, F1-c M Div. c-o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

Wyoming

Announcement was made recently of the promotion of Vance L. Folkman to the grade of corporal. Corporal Folkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. August L. Folkman, 204 So. State Road, Arlington Heights, is now in training at the Casper Army Air Field as a member of a B-24 heavy bomber crew.

Belgium

His face soaped for a much needed shave, Corporal Charles R. Fitzgerald of Mound City, Ill., picked up his razor, unaware that a truckload of Jerries and explosives were bearing down on him in Belgium.

The "spearhead" division had just pierced the Belgium border, and the liberation of Mons was taking place amidst ear-splitting tumult. Road blocks around the historic city trapped thousands of fleeing German troops.

The doughboys were mopping up, bringing in prisoners in such vast numbers that Captain Bryan Gruver of Cuyahoja Falls, Ohio, finally requisitioned a Belgium penitentiary which was then being used by the FFI for the same purpose.

Some time later, their ears still ringing with the noises, the tired, dusty doughboys prepared to rest for a short while.

That's when Fitzgerald decided to get rid of that four o'clock shadow. Setting up a helmet of water by his half-track, Fitz lathered his stubby beard, unaware of approaching danger. A bit down the road, Sergeant Leonard Weidner of Palatine, saw a truckload of what he thought to be the usual batch of Kraut prisoners. He allowed it to pass, but upon second glance he saw his mistake. The truck was loaded to capacity with armed Jerries sitting on a full load of 88 and ack-ack ammunition, and were towing two monstrous 88 mm guns.

Weidner quickly manned his machine gun and blasted out after the truck, hitting the unlucky Krauts who sat in the rear. The vehicle roared on. Weidner phoned to the platoon ahead.

But that call wasn't necessary because Fitzgerald, who had begun to shave, had heard the commotion by now, and had traded his Gillette for a .50 calibre blitzeroo. At 40 yards Fitz let fly at the windshield, and then the fun began: The fugitive truck left the road, crashing into a tree, and as the .50 calibre shells penetrated the load of ammunition, the truck burst into flames. Then hell cut loose when the ammo began to explode.

Those Jerries who could, jumped from the inferno; those who couldn't or didn't, perished. Enemy toll call: 14 dead, 24 wounded and 36 prisoners.

Norman Russell of Arlington Heights writes from Belgium where he and his brother Marvin are stationed.

"Here we are again only this time closer to the Feuher's front door. We are some place in Belgium and have a pretty good set up. I think we are very fortunate for being able to sleep in a bed and a building with a good roof over us. It doesn't sound like we are living very hard but we have our troubles also.

"Marv and I are still together and working in a shop truck. Marv takes care of the book and paper work and I handle the other side of checking tools and doing other jobs the fellows need done.

"This country is about the same as all the rest I have seen, except it is a little more modern and the people are a lot more friendly than the Frenchmen. The women come and want to do our washing for us, and all we have to supply is the soap. They won't take anything for doing it either.

"The beer is a whole lot better and some places you can get some pretty good cognac. One bad part is the way they charge the heck out of you.

"Hope we get a paper soon and hear from some of our old buddies."

Harley Easton home 30 days

Coast Guardsman Harley J. Easton, machinist's mate first class, 11 South Vail st., Arlington Heights, is back in the States enjoying a well-earned leave after more than 19 months spent aboard a Coast Guard-manned Invasion supply Ship in the Pacific. Serving in combat waters, Easton participated in the invasions of Bourgainville, Guadalcanal, Emirau, Munda, and Guam. Harley has been stationed in the engine room as a machinist.

"You don't see much action from the engine room," stated "Bud", "but you sweat it out plenty. Loud speakers inform us of progress of battles, but most of our news at those times comes through scuttlebutt. We're often asked what it feels like to be below decks in battle. You soon get used to it, and become a fatalist. If anything comes your way, well, it comes your way.

"We practically always traveled in convoy. We left the States in April of last year. The ship went directly to New Caledonia, then the New Hebrides, Tulagi, Guadalcanal, Munda, Russells and New Zealand. Our ship never suffered any battle damage, a lucky break for us. But we were under sub alert one time for four hours. All we did was zig-zag back and forth as per our escorts' orders.

"Our ship was entirely coast guard. Cargo carried was about anything, but usually contained ammunition. But in invasion battles we usually carried men and equipment.

"I met Dale Phillis of Arlington in Purvis Bay, Tulagi, at one time. It was a break for both of us, for after you've been away from home it's great to talk with someone from the home town. Dale is now stationed on Emirau just off the equator.

"We had two leave while in the Pacific, both of them at Auckland, New Zealand. N. Z is the only place you can have a real leave, anyway, as most of the islands aren't 'civilized'.

"We had a ship's dance the last time, lasting two nights in a local ballroom. I don't mean it was a two day affair for all men. One night was 'port night' and the other 'starboard night'. You see, half the crew had to stay aboard while in port.

"One of the outstanding events on my trips was initiation into the Trusty Shellbacks, Order of the Golden Dragon. Every newcomer was royally hazed when the ship crossed the equator. We had our heads shaved and painted, ate non-tempting dishes, and took a royal walloping. It was planty rough, but a lot of fun."

MM1c entered the navy January 5, 1942, taking boot training at University of Chicago. In October of '42 he was given his machinist's rating at Curtis Bay, Maryland. Back to Great Lakes for two months was next in line.

Harley reports January 5 to Cleveland, Ohio, for further orders.

Pacific

Ray Voelker of Arlington Heights didn't mention just where he was stationed, but we're putting him out in the Pacific.

"We, Mirs and myself, would like to take this opportunity to wish all the friends of ours in service at all parts of the world, and the people, they and we left behind a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

"David Heineman of Arlington is a mail man in a local past office here doing a job that really helps to build up morale. Keeping the mail moving.

"Wilbur Heineman, his brother, better known as 'Butts' is somewhere in the South Pacific on an LCS 'delivering the goods'.

"Roland Koenig of Prospect Heights was around here and as far as we know is one of the boys who stays at the job keeping our records cleared up.

"L. J. Mirs of 27 South Evergreen, Arlington Heights, is on a real fighting ship that has been through plenty of action, and is still packing a Sunday Punch for the Sons of Heaven, that they have already dealt a lot of misery to.

"Mirs, Heineman and myself had the pleasure of being together for a pleasant chat of the whole town.

"As for myself I am an electrician in a ship repair unit. You all know what they do."

His address is Ray J. Voelker, EM2c, c-o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

From a Seabee station out in the Pacific comes word of Roy Haas of Mt. Prospect. Roy is stationed there with the group.

Also in the Seabees, though with a different outfit, is Edwin Weigt of Mt. Prospect.

The third anniversary of the "workingest, fightingest bunch of men" in the nation's armed forces, the Navy Seabees, will be observed on December 28 by 240,000 officers and men of the United States Naval Construction Battalions.

Born just three weeks after the Pearl Harbor disaster, with an authorized strength of 3,000, the Seabees won their spurs at Guadalcanal and have been with the assault troops in every major American amphibious operation. They can now boast that they built the network of air and naval bases in the Pacific that pushed the Japs back 3,000 miles; that they developed amphibious equipment and technique that helped carry the day on the African, Sicilian, Italian and Normandy beachheads.

Every commissioned Construction Battalion is either currently overseas or has completed a tour of duty; many battalions are on their second tours. Seventy-six per cent of the Seabees are now outside the continental limits of the United States; only 9,000 essential men have never seen foreign service.

As General Douglas MacArthur wrote in a letter to Seabee chief Vice-Admiral Ben Moreel, "The only trouble with your Seabees is that you don't have enough of them!"

Fred Kehe of Arlington Heights recently received his rate of Radio Technician 3/c from Radio Man 3/c. He took his initial boot training at Farragut, Idaho, and also attended Radio School there for 20 weeks.

He has been aboard a carrier since it was commissioned in January, 1944. He has not been home since last April, and therefore has not seen his little daughter, Linda, born August 10. He also has another daughter Barbara who is almost two years old.

"We have been seeing pretty good movies aboard lately and they are all rather recent pictures. We also had a beer party on the beach the other day but with not too much beer. This Christmas will be the second away from home but I hope that the next one I will be able to spend with my wife and daughters."

His address is Fred Kehe R. T. 3/c, c-o Fleet Postoffice, San Francisco, Calif.

From the Pacific comes word of Leonard Pauling of Roselle.

"I had written to you sometime ago to make a correction in my address but I believe it must not have reached you. So I'm writing my new address and to thank the people who make it possible for me to receive the Register. I enjoy it very much.

"I can only say I'm somewhere in the Pacific. Had the pleasure to run into Beebe Karner a couple of months ago."

His address is Cpl. Leonard Pauling, 36378412, APO 27, c-o PM, San Francisco, Calif.

New York

Donald Winkelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Winkelman of Mt. Prospect, has made an unusual record for himself since joining the navy last April.

Before entering service, Donald was a student at Northwestern, having had eight months work of a pre-medical course. At Great Lakes, where he was first stationed, he became a hospital corps man. Later, he was sent to San Diego, Calif., where he graduated from the Hospital Corps Training Course in August of this year.

His next orders took him to Sampson, N. Y., where he studied to become a dental technician. December 2 he graduated with honors, having made a grade of 96.4 percent. The necessary grade for the honor rolls is 95 percent, but Don beat it by 1.4 percent.

He writes that the dental technician course is very "stiff". He has been allowed to fill teeth and is extremely interested. He says that upon being called to fill his first tooth, he found it necessary to first "shake off the shakes". Having accomplished that, Don took the drill in hand and proceeded in the true Winkelman fashion. He is most enthusiastic about his work.

Donald is still in New York waiting orders. His present address is H A 2 c Dispensary H dental, Sampson, N. Y. He is expected home this week end.

In New York at present is Owen Baxter of Arlington Heights. Owen has been aboard ship in the Atlantic, and his ship has docked in New York. His wife, the former Irma Windheim, visited him in New York.

Florida

Captain Roger H. Quindel of Mt. Prospect, is coordination and compliance officer at Avon Park Army Air Field, Florida, a final phase training base for Flying Fortress combat crews.

The Avon Park officer is a son of Mrs. Hattie E. Busse, Emerson st., Mt. Prospect. His wife, Mrs. Kathryn M. Rozwick Quindel resides at 807 Cambell ave., Lake Wales, Fla. Captain Quindel attended Lawrence College for one year, graduated from Walton School of Commerce in 1936, and attended Art Institute of Chicago

Norman C. Gaare, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Gaare, 132 W. Colfax, Palatine, recently graduated from the Aviation Electrician's Mate school at Jacksonville, Fla., and was promoted to Seaman First Class (AEM) in the U. S. Navy.

Entering the Navy he received his recruit training at Great Lakes, before being transferred to the Naval Air Technical Training Center. Gaare is now a qualified Aviation Electrician's Mate and will probably see service with a Naval Air Unit.

Ensign and Mrs. John K. Gage, Jr., of Palatine, were home on leave from Saturday, December 9, until Tuesday, December 19. Ensign Gage has been transferred from Charleston, S. C., to Miami, Florida. His address is Ens. John K. Gage, Beacon Hotel, 720 Ocean Drive, Miami Beach, Fla.

California

Now at Lemoore, California, is Gilbert Breckenfelder of Wood Dale. He was formerly stationed at Camp Campbell, Ky. His address is Pvt. Gilbert Breckenfelder, Sq. T-41, 461st AABU, Lemoore AAF, Lemoore, Calif.

Washington

From Walla Walla, Washington, comes word of Steve Stefanik of Arlington Heights.

"Just a few lines to let you know that I have a new address again, or rather that I've had it for about 3½ months now. You see we were sent up here for combat crew training and we have about completed our training here and are ready to ship out in a few weeks.

"Our original crew has been split up somewhat and now we have a new bombardier and 3 new gunners, also our original squadron has shipped out and left us, along with 5 other crews to ship out sometime in January.

"The training here is rather extensive and is carried on as if we were in a theater of action. We fly from 5 to 7 hours at a time, drop bombs, have gunnery practice, etc. During the bad weather we are having now the radio operator has to keep a continual watch for weather reports and in some cases he brings the plane back by his radio signals. We also do quite a bit of high altitude flying and the temperature really drops up there around 20,000 feet. One time it got down to 25° below.

"However, most of that training is behind us and all we do now is go on a cross-country flight to get navigational and instrument practice. The past few days the ceiling has been down around 500 feet so all flying has been canceled. We are scheduled to fly in the morning but if this ceiling continues to be so low we'll have a day in the "sack" instead."

His address is Cpl. C. M. Stefanik, Sqdn. T-2 AAF, Walla Walla, Washington.

Philippines

We're putting William Nelson of Bensenville in the Philippines, as he participated in the recent battle of the Philippine Sea. He is aboard ship, however.

"Well, here it is two days after our Thanksgiving Day dinner and I'm still full. We really had quite a spread. Young Tom Turkey (white or dark) mashed potatoes, giblet gravy, asparagus tips, peas, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, ice cream, fruit cake, hot coffee, Xmas candy, cigars and cigarettes.

"Have enjoyed beyond words receiving the Du Page Register. Just to know what the 'folks back home' are doing, helps make it a little more enjoyable 'out here'. Keep up the good work of printing your good paper. Haven't as yet met up with any of the boys from home, but am still hoping to some day soon.

"Chaplain Joop and I have been corresponding fairly regularly and Rev. C. J. Krell and Business Women's Club have sent monthly letters and a nice Christmas gift.

"We were in the Battle of the Philippine Sea. Gave the Japs a 'bad time'. We did not receive our mail for quite some time. When I finally did get my mail I had 64 letters, 3 packages and 5 Du Page Registers and 5 other newspapers. Was I in my glory."

His address is Wm. John Nelson, F1-c M Div. c-o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

Wyoming

Announcement was made recently of the promotion of Vance L. Folkman to the grade of corporal. Corporal Folkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. August L. Folkman, 204 So. State Road, Arlington Heights, is now in training at the Casper Army Air Field as a member of a B-24 heavy bomber crew.

Belgium

His face soaped for a much needed shave, Corporal Charles R. Fitzgerald of Mound City, Ill., picked up his razor, unaware that a truckload of Jerries and explosives were bearing down on him in Belgium.

The "spearhead" division had just pierced the Belgium border, and the liberation of Mons was taking place amidst ear-splitting tumult. Road blocks around the historic city trapped thousands of fleeing German troops.

The doughboys were mopping up, bringing in prisoners in such vast numbers that Captain Bryan Gruver of Cuyahoja Falls, Ohio, finally requisitioned a Belgium penitentiary which was then being used by the FFI for the same purpose.

Some time later, their ears still ringing with the noises, the tired, dusty doughboys prepared to rest for a short while.

That's when Fitzgerald decided to get rid of that four o'clock shadow. Setting up a helmet of water by his half-track, Fitz lathered his stubby beard, unaware of approaching danger. A bit down the road, Sergeant Leonard Weidner of Palatine, saw a truckload of what he thought to be the usual batch of Kraut prisoners. He allowed it to pass, but upon second glance he saw his mistake. The truck was loaded to capacity with armed Jerries sitting on a full load of 88 and ack-ack ammunition, and were towing two monstrous 88 mm guns.

Weidner quickly manned his machine gun and blasted out after the truck, hitting the unlucky Krauts who sat in the rear. The vehicle roared on. Weidner phoned to the platoon ahead.

But that call wasn't necessary because Fitzgerald, who had begun to shave, had heard the commotion by now, and had traded his Gillette for a .50 calibre blitzeroo. At 40 yards Fitz let fly at the windshield, and then the fun began: The fugitive truck left the road, crashing into a tree, and as the .50 calibre shells penetrated the load of ammunition, the truck burst into flames. Then hell cut loose when the ammo began to explode.

Those Jerries who could, jumped from the inferno; those who couldn't or didn't, perished. Enemy toll call: 14 dead, 24 wounded and 36 prisoners.

Norman Russell of Arlington Heights writes from Belgium where he and his brother Marvin are stationed.

Pacific

Ray Voelker of Arlington Heights didn't mention just where he was stationed, but we're putting him out in the Pacific.

"We, Mirs and myself, would like to take this opportunity to wish all the friends of ours in service at all parts of the world, and the people, they and we left behind a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

"David Heineman of Arlington is a mail man in a local past office here doing a job that really helps to build up morale. Keeping the mail moving.

"Wilbur Heineman, his brother, better known as 'Butts' is somewhere in the South Pacific on an LCS 'delivering the goods'.

"Roland Koenig of Prospect Heights was around here and as far as we know is one of the boys who stays at the job keeping our records cleared up.

"L. J. Mirs of 27 South Evergreen, Arlington Heights, is on a real fighting ship that has been through plenty of action, and is still packing a Sunday Punch for the Sons of Heaven, that they have already dealt a lot of misery to.

"Mirs, Heineman and myself had the pleasure of being together for a pleasant chat of the whole town.

"As for myself I am an electrician in a ship repair unit. You all know what they do."

His address is Ray J. Voelker, EM2c, c-o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

From a Seabee station out in the Pacific comes word of Roy Haas of Mt. Prospect. Roy is stationed there with the group.

Also in the Seabees, though with a different outfit, is Edwin Weigt of Mt. Prospect.

The third anniversary of the "workingest, fightingest bunch of men" in the nation's armed forces, the Navy Seabees, will be observed on December 28 by 240,000 officers and men of the United States Naval Construction Battalions.

Born just three weeks after the Pearl Harbor disaster, with an authorized strength of 3,000, the Seabees won their spurs at Guadalcanal and have been with the assault troops in every major American amphibious operation. They can now boast that they built the network of air and naval bases in the Pacific that pushed the Japs back 3,000 miles; that they developed amphibious equipment and technique that helped carry the day on the African, Sicilian, Italian and Normandy beachheads.

Every commissioned Construction Battalion is either currently overseas or has completed a tour of duty; many battalions are on their second tours. Seventy-six per cent of the Seabees are now outside the continental limits of the United States; only 9,000 essential men have never seen foreign service.

As General Douglas MacArthur wrote in a letter to Seabee chief Vice-Admiral Ben Moreel, "The only trouble with your Seabees is that you don't have enough of them!"

Fred Kehe of Arlington Heights recently received his rate of Radio Technician 3/c from Radio Man 3/c. He took his initial boot training at Farragut, Idaho, and also attended Radio School there for 20 weeks.

He has been aboard a carrier since it was commissioned in January, 1944. He has not been home since last April, and therefore has not seen his little daughter, Linda, born August 10. He also has another daughter Barbara who is almost two years old.

"We have been seeing pretty good movies aboard lately and they are all rather recent pictures. We also had a beer party on the beach the other day but with not too much beer. This Christmas will be the second away from home but I hope that the next one I will be able to spend with my wife and daughters."

His address is Fred Kehe R. T. 3/c, c-o Fleet Postoffice, San Francisco, Calif.

From the Pacific comes word of Leonard Pauling of Roselle.

"I had written to you sometime ago to make a correction in my address but I believe it must not have reached you. So I'm writing my new address and to thank the people who make it possible for me to receive the Register. I enjoy it very much.

"I can only say I'm somewhere in the Pacific. Had the pleasure to run into Beebe Karner a couple of months ago."

His address is Cpl. Leonard Pauling, 36378412, APO 27, c-o PM, San Francisco, Calif.

New York

Donald Winkelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Winkelman of Mt. Prospect, has made an unusual record for himself since joining the navy last April.

Before entering service, Donald was a student at Northwestern, having had eight months work of a pre-medical course. At Great Lakes, where he was first stationed, he became a hospital corps man. Later, he was sent to San Diego, Calif., where he graduated from the Hospital Corps Training Course in August of this year.

His next orders took him to Sampson, N. Y., where he studied to become a dental technician. December 2 he graduated with honors, having made a grade of 96.4 percent. The necessary grade for the honor rolls is 95 percent, but Don beat it by 1.4 percent.

He writes that the dental technician course is very "stiff". He has been allowed to fill teeth and is extremely interested. He says that upon being called to fill his first tooth, he found it necessary to first "shake off the shakes". Having accomplished that, Don took the drill in hand and proceeded in the true Winkelman fashion. He is most enthusiastic about his work.

Donald is still in New York waiting orders. His present address is H A 2 c Dispensary H dental, Sampson, N. Y. He is expected home this week end.

In New York at present is Owen Baxter of Arlington Heights. Owen has been aboard ship in the Atlantic, and his ship has docked in New York. His wife, the former Irma Windheim, visited him in New York.

Florida

Captain Roger H. Quindel of Mt. Prospect, is coordination and compliance officer at Avon Park Army Air Field, Florida, a final phase training base for Flying Fortress combat crews.

The Avon Park officer is a son of Mrs. Hattie E. Busse, Emerson st., Mt. Prospect. His wife, Mrs. Kathryn M. Rozwick Quindel resides at 807 Cambell ave., Lake Wales, Fla. Captain Quindel attended Lawrence College for one year, graduated from Walton School of Commerce in 1936, and attended Art Institute of Chicago.

Norman C. Gaare, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Gaare, 132 W. Colfax, Palatine, recently graduated from the Aviation Electrician's Mate school at Jacksonville, Fla., and was promoted to Seaman First Class (AEM) in the U. S. Navy.

Entering the Navy he received his recruit training at Great Lakes, before being transferred to the Naval Air Technical Training Center. Gaare is now a qualified Aviation Electrician's Mate and will probably see service with a Naval Air Unit.

Ensign and Mrs. John K. Gage, Jr., of Palatine, were home on leave from Saturday, December 9, until Tuesday, December 19. Ensign Gage has been transferred from Charleston, S. C., to Miami, Florida. His address is Ens. John K. Gage, Beacon Hotel, 720 Ocean Drive, Miami Beach, Fla.

California

Now at Lemoore, California, is Gilbert Breckenfelder of Wood Dale. He was formerly stationed at Camp Campbell, Ky. His address is Pvt. Gilbert Breckenfelder, Sq. T-41, 461st AABU, Lemoore AAF, Lemoore, Calif.

Arlington trims Leyden in hard fought battle, 31-21

Lights take 9th in a row

Arlington Heights led all the way in both games Friday night to whip Leyden's varsity 31-21 and their lightweights 36-21. The victories gave Arlington's lights a perfect record of nine victories for the season and four straight in the conference. Niles is the only other unbeaten Northeast lightweight team. The Arlington varsity are in second place with three victories in four league games.

Friday's varsity game was a ragged affair with excessive fouling on both sides. Both teams played with a chip on their shoulders so it appeared and a total of 42 fouls were called. One boy on each team was eliminated on five personals and a boy on each team was banished for deliberate and unnecessary roughness.

Arlington took a 7-5 lead in the first quarter and then showed some good basket ball in the second eight minutes to pull away to a 17-7 margin at the half. Leyden's first field goal of the game was not scored until after 15 minutes of playing. Chuck Page, who was high point man of the game with 11 counters, got three buckets in the second quarter. Arlington was in front 22-13 at the end of the third period and at one time Leyden cut the lead to 25-20 but Hamburg and Stroker scored to put the game safely in the bag. Big Alan Stroker, most improved player on the Arlington squad, was the star of the game. He held Leyden's tall center, Robertson, to one basket and did some great rebounding at both ends of the court. Leyden got but four baskets.

Led by the hot shooting of Wille who got 14 points and Busse who collected 12, Coach Joyner's lightweights rolled over their ninth straight opponent 36-21. As usual Joyner had 18 boys in the lineup. Leyden made a game of it the first quarter trailing only 10-6 but Wille and Busse started hitting and Arlington moved ahead by 20-11 at the half and 26-12 at the three quarter mark. Leyden got only three free throws but sank 15 out of 27 free shots. Arlington sank eight out of 12 with Wille having a perfect record on six free throw attempts.

Washing Wool

When washing woolen blankets be sure to use enough lukewarm sudsy water. Too little water will cause the wool to mat. Never attempt to wash blankets with anything else.

MAC SAYS:

BY GERALD A. McELROY

As we go to press tournaments are about to open at Wauconda and Woodstock. The Northwest schools holding their holiday tourney at Wauconda have four games Thursday night in a real bargain bill. We expect Bensenville, Antioch, Ela, and Palatine to emerge victorious from the first round and then Bensenville and favored Ela to go into the finals after a couple of good close semi-final tilts against Antioch and Palatine on Friday. Then Bensenville to beat Ela in the finals and Palatine to take third place from Antioch. Of course Barrington might beat the Bisons in the first round and go all the way or Palatine might go all the way after whipping Ela. On paper it would look like Ela to take the tourney but we are doping it otherwise.

Palatine could win tourney

The way Palatine has been looking in practice scrimmages this past week the Pirates will be hard to beat. They have been looking much better than in either of their two good performances against Ela and Barrington. A continuation of this form could easily mean winning the tournament. Kinsch and Hapke at guards are becoming the best back court pair in the league and have contributed needed points as well. Vogt and Toppel have been looking better and better on the scoring end. Smith, regular forward, has been sick the past week but is expected back in form for the tournament. Palatine does not have the tall team expected at the start of the season for only one regular is over six feet. The taller boys have not come through as expected.

It is all Crystal Lake in McHenry Co. meet

In the McHenry county tourney at Woodstock you cannot very well pick anyone but Crystal Lake for they won last year and have the same five as regulars again this year. We expect them to meet Woodstock in the final. The Tigers beat Woodstock 40-29 in a Northeast league game last Friday night.

Incomplete records explained

A glance at the Northeast Standings showed several teams with incomplete records which require some explanation. Niles and Lake Forest did not meet last Friday because Niles closed school the Friday before on short notice due to labor shortage before Christmas. The games will be played on a Saturday later in the season. Leyden and Woodstock lightweights did not meet two weeks ago by mutual agreement due to travel difficulties. When Woodstock plays at Leyden later on the lightweights will again be idle.

Opinion on coming Card-Pirate fracas

Last Friday evening we took over for Earl Stutzman in handling the Palatine varsity squad and following Stutzman's instructions for a good tough scrimmage we gave the boys about 40 minutes of it without a rest period. They looked very sharp against a team headed by Schwolow of the Arlington pro five. Right afterward we saw Arlington beat Leyden by 10 points but came away feeling that Palatine could have taken the Cardinals that night had they met. When they meet at Palatine January 13 the big problem from Palatine's standpoint will be handling rebounds with big Al Stroker of Arlington in there against them. Arlington's problem will be using their revolving offense to any advantage against Palatine's zone on a very narrow court. Our prediction for the Arlington-Palatine games this year is that both times the scores will be so close that ability at the free throw line will be the deciding factor.

Kelly High leads all the way to beat Cards

Varsity falls, 47-22; lights take 10th in row

Three games in one week appears to have been too much for the Arlington Cardinals as they were soundly trounced 47-22 by Kelly High of Chicago Saturday night. It was Arlington's third defeat of the season in nine games.

Coach Joyner's Junior Varsity, however, seemed not to be bothered by the big city team as they ran up a 35-24 score for their 10th straight victory of the year. Joyner used all his 18 man squad again Saturday night.

Arlington led 8-2 at the quarter 20-9 at the half and 31-44 in the third period before the third and fourth string players took over. Busse, Wille and Kleiner scored most of Arlington's points.

Kelly forward scores 20 points

The Arlington Varsity could not cope with the scoring of Sulensni, Kelly's hot shot forward who dropped in 20 points but he was ably supported by Durancz, with 12 and Jublonski with nine from guard positions. Kelly took a 12-2 lead the first quarter and dominated play all the way. The Chicago team led 25-10 at the half and 34-16 at the end of the third quarter.

Kleiner and Hamburg accounted for 13 of Arlington's 22 points, but both fouled out in the last quarter. Arlington only scored six times from the field but sank 12 out of 12 free throws.

Kelly has been winning rather consistently in the city and Arlington fans could readily see why though the Cards flashed little of the form that they had been showing of late.

Ladd and Harvey lead scoring in Northwest

Norman Ladd of Ela and Gerald Harvey of Wauconda are making the individual scoring race in the Northwest loop a two player affair as both are badly out distancing the field. Ladd with 72 points is on his way to breaking the league record of 127 in 10 games set by his brother Jim last year. Ladd is averaging 18 points against Antioch after having 15 in each of the first three games and boasts a 16 point a game average. Schoppe and Neumann of Bensenville who hold down the next two spots are 26 points behind Harvey. Ela and Bensenville each have two men in the first five for Hapke, star Ela guard, holds the fifth spot.

AT WAUKEGAN

New Year's day 2:00 p. m.

Blind draw with two games involving Freeport, Dundee, Thornton, and Waukegan. Finals (two games) 7:30.

Bensenville and Palatine in NW meet, Arl. quiet

Three tournaments will claim the attention of prep sports fans in the suburban area this week. At Wauconda starting Thursday night at 6:00 the Northwest Conference will open their second annual holiday tournament with four games on the opening night schedule. It is expected to be a closely contested meet with Barrington or Bensenville expected to meet either Ela or Palatine in the finals on Saturday night if the dope runs true to form.

Starting Wednesday of this week the McHenry County tournament is on tap at Woodstock Community High where Crystal Lake's undefeated Tigers are the odds on favorite to annex the championship which they captured last year. Richmond meets Hebron with the winner playing McHenry and Crystal Lake plays Harvard in the upper bracket with McHenry and Crystal Lake slated for semi-finals. In the lower bracket it is St. Mary's of Woodstock vs. Huntley and Woodstock vs. Marengo. St. Mary's and Woodstock Community High should reach the semi-finals. It looks like Crystal Lake versus Woodstock in the final. The Lakers beat Woodstock by a comfortable margin just last week in a league game on the same court.

New Year's day Waukegan has an innovation in tournament plans with a four team one day meet. The four entries, Waukegan, Dundee, Freeport, and Thornton of Harvey will play each other in a blind draw just prior to the afternoon session. The winners and losers with them meet in the evening finals. These are all strong teams in their respective areas. Thornton is a strong south suburban contender with a veteran team which lost just once last year. Freeport is one of the Big Eight's best clubs. Dundee is top team in the Little Seven. Waukegan, winner of eight out of nine games, just recently topped Moline who was at the time rated number four in Illinois and whipped Gary, Indiana, rated fifth in that state.

Pro five to play Wednesday

The Merle Guild Legion All Stars will resume their basketball program next Wednesday evening at the Arlington high school gym, when they play Ft. Sheridan. Preliminary game will pit the Fort Wacs five against a local girls team. Jan. 10 Douglas will be the opponent, and Jan. 17 Kentucky All-Americans from Louisville.

Plans call for a game every Wednesday night through the winter season. All games are to be played at the high school gym. Scale of prices are: reserved seat section 75c, general admission 50c and balcony and stage 25c.

Max Burnell, a member of the Legion squad, was the subject of an interesting article in Tuesday's Sport Section of the Chicago Daily News. Mention was made that he not only teaches but practices, as football and basketball coach at Evanston's St. George high school, and half back with the Chicago Bears during the past season, and now a member of the Legion Pro team in Arlington Heights.

Antioch trims St. Mary's

Antioch took both games on their home court last week against St. Mary's of Des Plaines. The lightweights won in two overtimes, 39-37, while the varsity was victorious, 50-30.

Waukegan lost only to Evanston.

All these tournaments promise good competition.

Ways to Beat the Car Shortage

1. Here's one possible means of transportation in case your car shouldn't win the race against time.

Yes—RACE. For with wear rapidly undermining your old car, and automobile manufacturers needing at least four years, they say, to make the 16,000,000 new cars required—well, your faithful old bus may fail long before you get your new one.

Of course, there's a practical solution, too. You can...

2. Keep your present car fit 'til you're SURE of your new one. Simply take it—regularly—to your Tydol dealer. He'll take over your worries with the ace wear-fighters of the world. These famous products, plus his skill and experience in all the car-saving services, will do the trick easily, safely, economically.

Your Tydol dealer is ready right now with what your car needs. Drive into the Tydol station today and let him keep you rolling—indefinitely.

Here's how your Tydol Dealer insures long, trouble-free Car life:

Fresh Veedol Motor Oil every 1,000 miles (or every 60 days, whichever comes sooner) to prevent harmful oxidation that results from today's limited driving. Veedol is made from 100% Pennsylvania crude—world's champion wear-fighter.

Veedol Safety-Check Lubrication to reach every moving chassis part with 5 specialized, friction-defying lubricants. Includes a FREE inspection of the 18 vital points where breakdowns usually begin.

Tire care from A to Z—frequent inflation to maintain proper air pressure; inspection for cuts and bruises; switching to prevent one-side wear; prompt attention to weakened places. Re-capping arranged before carcass becomes unusable.

Battery, radiator, fan belt and spark plug service. High quality replacements if needed. Efficient anti-freeze for winter protection, with regular checks to maintain proper strength of solution.

Arlington trims Leyden in hard fought battle, 31-21

Lights take 9th in a row

Arlington Heights led all the way in both games Friday night to whip Leyden's varsity 31-21 and their lightweights 36-21. The victories gave Arlington's lights a perfect record of nine victories for the season and four straight in the conference. Niles is the only other unbeaten Northeast lightweight team. The Arlington varsity are in second place with three victories in four league games.

Friday's varsity game was a ragged affair with excessive fouling on both sides. Both teams played with a chip on their shoulders so it appeared and a total of 42 fouls were called. One boy on each team was eliminated on five personals and a boy on each team was banished for deliberate and unnecessary roughness.

Arlington took a 7-5 lead in the first quarter and then showed some good basket ball in the second eight minutes to pull away to a 17-7 margin at the half. Leyden's first field goal of the game was not scored until after 15 minutes of playing. Chuck Page, who was high point man of the game with 11 counters, got three buckets in the second quarter. Arlington was in front 22-13 at the end of the third period and at one time Leyden cut the lead to 25-20 but Hamburg and Stroker scored to put the game safely in the bag. Big Alan Stroker, most improved player on the Arlington squad, was the star of the game. He held Leyden's tall center, Robertson, to one basket and did some great rebounding at both ends of the court. Leyden got but four baskets.

Led by the hot shooting of Wille who got 14 points and Busse who collected 12, Coach Joyner's lightweights rolled over their ninth straight opponent 36-21. As usual Joyner had 18 boys in the lineup. Leyden made a game of it the first quarter trailing only 10-6 but Wille and Busse started hitting and Arlington moved ahead by 20-11 at the half and 26-12 at the three quarter mark. Leyden got only three free throws but sank 15 out of 27 free shots. Arlington sank eight out of 12 with Wille having a perfect record on six free throw attempts.

Washing Wool

When washing woolen blankets be sure to use enough lukewarm sudsy water. Too little water will cause the wool to mat. Never attempt to wash blankets with anything else.

MAC SAYS:

BY GERALD A. McELROY

As we go to press tournaments are about to open at Wauconda and Woodstock. The Northwest schools holding their holiday tourney at Wauconda have four games Thursday night in a real bargain bill. We expect Bensenville, Antioch, Ela, and Palatine to emerge victorious from the first round and then Bensenville and favored Ela to go into the finals after a couple of good close semi-final tilts against Antioch and Palatine on Friday. Then Bensenville to beat Ela in the finals and Palatine to take third place from Antioch. Of course Barrington might beat the Bisons in the first round and go all the way or Palatine might go all the way after whipping Ela. On paper it would look like Ela to take the tourney but we are doping it otherwise.

Palatine could win tourney

The way Palatine has been looking in practice scrimmages this past week the Pirates will be hard to beat. They have been looking much better than in either of their two good performances against Ela and Barrington. A continuation of this form could easily mean winning the tournament. Kinsch and Hapke at guards are becoming the best back court pair in the league and have contributed needed points as well. Vogt and Toppel have been looking better and better on the scoring end. Smith, regular forward, has been sick the past week but is expected back in form for the tournament. Palatine does not have the tall team expected at the start of the season for only one regular is over six feet. The taller boys have not come through as expected.

It is all Crystal Lake in McHenry Co. meet

In the McHenry county tourney at Woodstock you cannot very well pick anyone but Crystal Lake for they won last year and have the same five as regulars again this year. We expect them to meet Woodstock in the final. The Tigers beat Woodstock 40-29 in a Northeast league game last Friday night.

Incomplete records explained

A glance at the Northeast Standings showed several teams with incomplete records which require some explanation. Niles and Lake Forest did not meet last Friday because Niles closed school the Friday before on short notice due to labor shortage before Christmas. The games will be played on a Saturday later in the season. Leyden and Woodstock lightweights did not meet two weeks ago by mutual agreement due to travel difficulties. When Woodstock plays at Leyden later on the lightweights will again be idle.

Opinion on coming Card-Pirate fracas

Last Friday evening we took over for Earl Stutzman in handling the Palatine varsity squad and following Stutzman's instructions for a good tough scrimmage we gave the boys about 40 minutes of it without a rest period. They looked very sharp against a team headed by Schwolow of the Arlington pro five. Right afterward we saw Arlington beat Leyden by 10 points but came away feeling that Palatine could have taken the Cardinals that night had they met. When they meet at Palatine January 13 the big problem from Palatine's standpoint will be handling rebounds with big Al Stroker of Arlington in there against them. Arlington's problem will be using their revolving offense to any advantage against Palatine's zone on a very narrow court. Our prediction for the Arlington-Palatine games this year is that both times the scores will be so close that ability at the free throw line will be the deciding factor.

Kelly High leads all the way to beat Cards

Varsity falls, 47-22; lights take 10th in row

Three games in one week appears to have been too much for the Arlington Cardinals as they were soundly trounced 47-22 by Kelly High of Chicago Saturday night. It was Arlington's third defeat of the season in nine games.

Coach Joyner's Junior Varsity, however, seemed not to be bothered by the big city team as they ran up a 35-24 score for their 10th straight victory of the year. Joyner used all his 18 man squad again Saturday night.

Arlington led 8-2 at the quarter 20-9 at the half and 31-44 in the third period before the third and fourth string players took over. Busse, Wille and Kleiner scored most of Arlington's points.

Kelly forward scores 20 points

The Arlington Varsity could not cope with the scoring of Sulensni, Kelly's hot shot forward who dropped in 20 points but he was ably supported by Durancz, with 12 and Jublonski with nine from guard positions. Kelly took a 12-2 lead the first quarter and dominated play all the way. The Chicago team led 25-10 at the half and 34-16 at the end of the third quarter.

Kleiner and Hamburg accounted for 13 of Arlington's 22 points, but both fouled out in the last quarter. Arlington only scored six times from the field but sank 12 out of 12 free throws.

Kelly has been winning rather consistently in the city and Arlington fans could readily see why though the Cards flashed little of the form that they had been showing of late.

Ladd and Harvey lead scoring in Northwest

Norman Ladd of Ela and Gerald Harvey of Wauconda are making the individual scoring race in the Northwest loop a two player affair as both are badly out distancing the field. Ladd with 72 points is on his way to breaking the league record of 127 in 10 games set by his brother Jim last year. Ladd is averaging 18 points against Antioch after having 15 in each of the first three games and boasts a 16 point a game average. Schoppe and Neumann of Bensenville who hold down the next two spots are 26 points behind Harvey. Ela and Bensenville each have two men in the first five for Hapke, star Ela guard, holds the fifth spot.

AT WAUKEGAN

New Year's day 2:00 p. m.

Blind draw with two games involving Freeport, Dundee, Thornton, and Waukegan. Finals (two games) 7:30.

Bensenville and Palatine in NW meet, Arl. quiet

Three tournaments will claim the attention of prep sports fans in the suburban area this week. At Wauconda starting Thursday night at 6:00 the Northwest Conference will open their second annual holiday tournament with four games on the opening night schedule. It is expected to be a closely contested meet with Barrington or Bensenville expected to meet either Ela or Palatine in the finals on Saturday night if the dope runs true to form.

Starting Wednesday of this week the McHenry County tournament is on tap at Woodstock Community High where Crystal Lake's undefeated Tigers are the odds on favorite to annex the championship which they captured last year. Richmond meets Hebron with the winner playing McHenry and Crystal Lake plays Harvard in the upper bracket with McHenry and Crystal Lake slated for semi-finals. In the lower bracket it is St. Mary's of Woodstock vs. Huntley and Woodstock vs. Marengo. St. Mary's and Woodstock Community High should reach the semi-finals. It looks like Crystal Lake versus Woodstock in the final. The Lakers beat Woodstock by a comfortable margin just last week in a league game on the same court.

New Year's day Waukegan has an innovation in tournament plans with a four team one day meet. The four entries, Waukegan, Dundee, Freeport, and Thornton of Harvey will play each other in a blind draw just prior to the afternoon session. The winners and losers with them meet in the evening finals. These are all strong teams in their respective areas. Thornton is a strong south suburban contender with a veteran team which lost just once last year. Freeport is one of the Big Eight's best clubs. Dundee is top team in the Little Seven. Waukegan, winner of eight out of nine games, just recently topped Moline who was at the time rated number four in Illinois and whipped Gary, Indiana, rated fifth in that state. Waukegan lost only to Evanston.

All these tournaments promise good competition.

Pro five to play Wednesday

The Merle Guild Legion All Stars will resume their basketball program next Wednesday evening at the Arlington high school gym, when they play Ft. Sheridan. Preliminary game will pit the Fort Wacs five against a local girls team. Jan. 10 Douglas will be the opponent, and Jan. 17 Kentucky All-Americans from Louisville.

Plans call for a game every Wednesday night through the winter season. All games are to be played at the high school gym. Scale of prices are: reserved seat section 75c, general admission 50c and balcony and stage 25c.

Max Burnell, a member of the Legion squad, was the subject of an interesting article in Tuesday's Sport Section of the Chicago Daily News. Mention was made that he not only teaches but practices, as football and basketball coach at Evanston's St. George high school, and half back with the Chicago Bears during the past season, and now a member of the Legion Pro team in Arlington Heights.

Antioch trims St. Mary's

Antioch took both games on their home court last week against St. Mary's of Des Plaines. The lightweights won in two overtimes, 39-37, while the varsity was victorious, 50-30.

Ways to Beat the Car Shortage

1. Here's one possible means of transportation in case your car shouldn't win the race against time.

Yes—RACE. For with wear rapidly undermining your old car, and automobile manufacturers needing at least four years, they say, to make the 16,000,000 new cars required—well, your faithful old bus may fail long before you get your new one.

Of course, there's a practical solution, too. You can...

2. Keep your present car fit 'til you're SURE of your new one. Simply take it—regularly—to your Tydol dealer. He'll take over your worries with the ace wear-fighters of the world. These famous products, plus his skill and experience in all the car-saving services, will do the trick easily, safely, economically.

Your Tydol dealer is ready right now with what your car needs. Drive into the Tydol station today and let him keep you rolling—indefinitely.

Here's how your Tydol Dealer insures long, trouble-free Car life:

Fresh Veedol Motor Oil every 1,000 miles (or every 60 days, whichever comes sooner) to prevent harmful oxidation that results from today's limited driving. Veedol is made from 100% Pennsylvania crude—world's champion wear-fighter.

Veedol Safety-Check Lubrication to reach every moving chassis part with 5 specialized, friction-defying lubricants. Includes a FREE inspection of the 18 vital points where breakdowns usually begin.

Tire care from A to Z—frequent inflation to maintain proper air pressure; inspection for cuts and bruises; switching to prevent one-side wear; prompt attention to weakened places. Re-capping arranged before carcass becomes unusable.

Battery, radiator, fan belt and spark plug service. High quality replacements if needed. Efficient anti-freeze for winter protection, with regular checks to maintain proper strength of solution.

Vegetables

The holiday table need not lack for holiday atmosphere, especially if food budgets are not too limited. On hand for the Yuletide season, according to the War Food Administration, are supplies of unshelled and shelled nuts—and various colorful fruit selections including tangerines, kumquats, a few papayas, avocados, bananas, and fresh dates, not to mention such "regulars" as oranges, grapefruit, and apples. There are also some table grapes, although the end of the season is at hand, and a moderate quantity of winter pears.

There are vegetables available, too, to offer distinctiveness to special holiday dinners, although prices are rather on the high side. Brussels sprouts, the tasty miniature cabbages, and deep green broccoli are among the offerings. Cauliflower and artichokes will also supply tempting vegetable servings. Sweet potatoes are usually a popular choice for festive dinners, and adequate supplies are on hand. Prices are rather moderate on them, too.

Prices on celery have been moving considerably higher in recent weeks, although moderate supplies from California and Michigan are available. Cucumbers are also in the luxury brackets, and prices of tomatoes are right at ceiling levels. Supplies of lettuce are very light, with demand far exceeding the supply, so homemakers might well plan on other salad items. Increasing supplies of carrots have resulted in a slight decrease in price this week. More economical buys include beets, winter squash, rutabagas and parsnips, and the various greens.

On the wholesale market, supplies of turkeys are light, with final market demands unsatisfied for dressed turkeys. Some receivers report the ability to take care of their regular customers. However, there is a larger "direct to the consumer" distribution from turkey growing areas this year, instead of through usual marketing channels.

Mr. Pat Freeley and Miss Florence Immel were married Saturday evening, December 6. Miss Johnson and Mr. Hendricks of Bensenville were bridesmaid and best man. Congratulations to the couple.

Miss Delia Elfring was entertained at Edgewater Beach Hote Friday.

Itasca

Miss Alice Wolf was married to Mr. Haas of Elmhurst by Rev. Zersen November 29, at Itasca.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs Albert Benninger was christened Calvin Arnold at the home by Rev. Zersen Sunday.

About thirty friends and neighbors surprised Mr. Chas. Speckman on Sunday evening in hono of his birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pfluger and family of Itasca were guests o Mrs. George Frey of Bensenville last week.

It Happened Here

Terrible James was bad, the problem child of the room, not simply naughty but bad because he was smart and knew he was smart; he scoffed at authority and felt that he was more than a match for it, he always had been; you couldn't put anything over on James, not on smart James. He could incite others to mischief and escape punishment, he could be the leader, admired and copied and never caught. Up until now, but now, in kindergarten something seemed to be going wrong with his system which had always served him before; he wasn't noticed found himself carefully left out was never chosen leader, was always the odd one and somehow his mischief invariably got James into trouble, and when he laid plans to divert the attention of the group, something got in his way a hand or a word was interposed. Gradually, as he watched, James saw that he could do cleverer and better work at the tables and with the blocks than most of the others in the group and that it gave him a feeling of leadership to help the slower ones and that was pleasant, a new kind of pleasure. While Teacher carefully put away the pictures, the group began clamoring for the promised story. "Give her a chance, can't you?" said James, turning on them with fine scorn. Smart James acknowledged a leader when he saw one.

The steep roofs are white, good folk are asleep, all darkles,
With diamond points the new fallen snow now sparkles;
The air is a-glitter, its frosty bite knife-keen and sharp;
At the white keyhole listen to a high, eerie harp.
The angels are singing; each child kneel to its prayers
And say to Lord Jesus there's room here if He cares.

Vegetables

The holiday table need not lack for holiday atmosphere, especially if food budgets are not too limited. On hand for the Yuletide season, according to the War Food Administration, are supplies of unshelled and shelled nuts—and various colorful fruit selections including tangerines, kumquats, a few papayas, avocados, bananas, and fresh dates, not to mention such "regulars" as oranges, grapefruit, and apples. There are also some table grapes, although the end of the season is at hand, and a moderate quantity of winter pears.

There are vegetables available, too, to offer distinctiveness to special holiday dinners, although prices are rather on the high side. Brussels sprouts, the tasty miniature cabbages, and deep green broccoli are among the offerings. Cauliflower and artichokes will also supply tempting vegetable servings. Sweet potatoes are usually a popular choice for festive dinners, and adequate supplies are on hand. Prices are rather moderate on them, too.

Prices on celery have been moving considerably higher in recent weeks, although moderate supplies from California and Michigan are available. Cucumbers are also in the luxury brackets, and prices of tomatoes are right at ceiling levels. Supplies of lettuce are very light, with demand far exceeding the supply, so homemakers might well plan on other salad items. Increasing supplies of carrots have resulted in a slight decrease in price this week. More economical buys include beets, winter squash, rutabagas and parsnips, and the various greens.

On the wholesale market, supplies of turkeys are light, with final market demands unsatisfied for dressed turkeys. Some receivers report the ability to take care of their regular customers. However, there is a larger "direct to the consumer" distribution from turkey growing areas this year, instead of through usual marketing channels.

It Happened Here

Terrible James was bad, the problem child of the room, not simply naughty but bad because he was smart and knew he was smart; he scoffed at authority and felt that he was more than a match for it, he always had been; you couldn't put anything over on James, not on smart James. He could incite others to mischief and escape punishment, he could be the leader, admired and copied and never caught. Up until now, but now, in kindergarten something seemed to be going wrong with his system which had always served him before; he wasn't noticed found himself carefully left out was never chosen leader, was always the odd one and somehow his mischief invariably got James into trouble, and when he laid plans to divert the attention of the group, something got in his way a hand or a word was interposed. Gradually, as he watched, James saw that he could do cleverer and better work at the tables and with the blocks than most of the others in the group and that it gave him a feeling of leadership to help the slower ones and that was pleasant, a new kind of pleasure. While Teacher carefully put away the pictures, the group began clamoring for the promised story. "Give her a chance, can't you?" said James, turning on them with fine scorn. Smart James acknowledged a leader when he saw one.

The steep roofs are white, good folk are asleep, all darkles,
With diamond points the new fallen snow now sparkles;
The air is a-glitter, its frosty bite knife-keen and sharp;
At the white keyhole listen to a high, eerie harp.
The angels are singing; each child kneel to its prayers
And say to Lord Jesus there's room here if He cares.

Raise price ceilings on hogs and wheat

Will promote heavier hogs

Principal developments during the week include (1) the raising of the ceiling to $14.75, Chicago basis, regardless of weight, for all hogs other than sows, boars and stags; (2) the announcement of support prices for eggs at 24 cents a dozen to farmers for straight-run or 27 cents for candled eggs; and (3) an increase of four cents in the wheat price ceiling.

Raising the ceiling to $14.75 for hogs weighing in excess of 270 pounds will probably have the effect of inducing farmers to feed their hogs to heavier weights, particularly in the western part of the corn belt, where corn supplies are extremely large in relation to hog numbers. This revision probably reflects the opinion that the end of the war in Europe is not in sight and that more corn products will be needed for the armed forces than was originally anticipated.

Raising the wheat ceiling four cents at Chicago was done to meet demands of the new law requiring parity for producers and to provide for some slight increase in the future parity index. Grain prices have strengthened considerably during the past three months. Part of this strength can be attributed to the prolongation of the war caused by the bad breaks we have received on the European front. One writer indicates, for example, that the weather on the western front has been the worst in 100 years and has been an important factor in slowing the advance of the allied armies. Corn has sold within the past few days at ceiling prices at Chicago. Part of this strength reflects weather conditions and bad roads, but the basic reason appears to be the change in attitude toward the duration of the war. Any prolongation of the war means heavier government debt, expansion in buying power of consumers and greater difficulty in preventing further inflation.

During the past week the War Food Administration announced that the government would support egg prices to producers in 1945 at a minimum of 27 cents a dozen for candled eggs; and in areas where marketing facilities for purchasing candled eggs from producers cannot be made available the minimum producer price will be 24 cents a dozen to farmers for straight-run eggs. The government will, if necessary, designate purchasing agents in all areas prior to the beginning of heavy egg production.

In spite of some revision upward in government requirements for eggs, present hen numbers suggest egg prices at support levels during the flush season of production unless flocks are heavily culled. The support prices established do not provide for profitable use of the farmer's feed or labor, particularly in comparison with sale of milk and other livestock products.

A press association report says that a new proposal for flat ceilings on live cattle will be submitted by the OPA to Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson. The suggestion apparently originated as a result of threatened shutdown of markets in New York and New Jersey. Dealers in that area contend that it is impossible for them to operate at a profit under present circumstances where competition forces them to pay higher prices for cattle than they can get for the meat under OPA ceilings. Because of producer opposition to cattle ceilings, some other way may be found to solve the problem of the eastern specialized slaughterers.

Parachute Landings

A new technique for paratroopers has been worked out. In the early days of the war they were instructed to land with their feet about 18 inches apart. Now they are taught to hold them together because the new method reduces ankle fractures.

Attention, Women!

Here's something new for tall women 5' 6" or over . . . At last a pajama that fits one's dimensions. No wonder that designer Harry Berger (shown in inset) calls them Proportional PJ's. Other features of these tommies dimensional pajamas are the man-tailoring; the overhanging yokes; deliberately designed to extend beyond the shoulder line so as not to cause strain or stress during one's restless sleep; the U-shaped crotch which comfortably follows the curve of the body, and the horizontal button-holes which keep buttons in for the night. Pajamas in the new dimensional sizes come for the tall, the small and the average woman, as shown above.

War spending to keep farm income up in '45

Speaking on the immediate prospect for farmers for 1945 Dr. L. J. Norton at the Annual Meeting of the Cook County Farm Bureau December 13, stated, "We are still fighting two wars and probably will be through a great part of 1945 and will continue government spending. Therefore, we may expect a heavy demand for farm commodities and our program should be full production in 1945 with a few possible exceptions. Beyond 1945 we may expect an end to come to this war and as soon as it does there will be cut backs, lessened national income and consequently less farm income.

"So far as the dairyman is concerned this is no time to buy high priced cows. We may expect subsidies to be cancelled shortly after hostilities. However dairymen face a good year for 1945.

"The vegetable farmer is being asked for an increase in processed crops for tomatoes, sweet corn and carrots. On the whole the fresh vegetable crops probably should be reduced somewhat. The index selling price for fresh vegetables has been the highest for any farm commodity and a reaction has begun to set in. It is therefore suggested that a reduction of around 5 to 10 percent for fresh vegetables may well be made for this coming year. The victory garden program has been hot and cold this past year. Just now there is an effort to revive the victory garden program but it is believed that it will meet little success. On the whole the vegetable grower must expect his costs to be much higher, labor more difficult so there is not much he can do but to begin to retrench on production.

"It is probable that livestock will sell fairly well this next year because of the reduction in meat animals. Oils and fats will continue scarce and soybean subsidies will be continued.

"Poultry men were faced with a super abundance this past year but large quantities of dry eggs have been moved into Russia by lend lease and the government will probably continue to buy eggs in the market this coming year. We will have some new machinery but for the most part farmers may not expect much machinery until after the war munitions building program has been finished which will not be complete until victory which may be at least two years from now.

"Fertilizers this year are very short and farmers must by all means stock their fertilizer early. Sprays will be short also this next year. We must expect very few heavy truck tires and also vegetable growers will face a constantly decreasing number of packages, crates and boxes. To sum up 1945 will be a fairly good year for farmers because of the continuation of the war. After 1945, begin to expect cut backs and decreased farm incomes. This is the time for farmers to begin to watch production costs, to cut out unproductive live stock, pay any remaining debts, keep out of an increasing real estate market, and invest surplus funds in war bonds. People should realize, after all, war bonds are probably the best investments at this time that we have on the market.

"There is a fear of inflation on the part of farmers while undoubtedly there will still be price advances. We believe that a run away inflation will be controlled and that we need not be too fearful of a collapse in our economic structure."

The following were elected directors of the board for the ensuing year:

Better Traction

The average tractive effort of a steam locomotive today is about 50 per cent greater than that used at the time of World War I.

Women help produce record farm crops

Thousands of women all over the United States have helped plant, cultivate and harvest this year's big crop as members of the Women's Land Army.

Here in Illinois women have done their part to help raise food to feed our fighting men and our allies. According to Mrs. Madge Little, state extension farm labor supervisor in charge of WLA, 5,810 women were recruited for seasonal farm jobs, such as harvesting vegetables and detasseling hybrid seed corn. In addition, 41 are doing year-round work. Biggest single job was corn detasseling, which required long hours under a hot sun.

These Illinois women took time from housekeeping, offices and stores and from teaching and college work to help meet the vital need for workers to fill the gaps left by increasing numbers of farm men who have been called to the colors. It was one of the state's biggest crop years.

"There were many more women living on farms who have been doing men's work and are not included in these figures," Mrs. Little explains, "and over 36,000 youth under 18 enrolled for farm jobs here in Illinois this year, a portion of whom were girls.

"These women had no experience on farms in a great many cases. Their contribution to the war effort is outstanding. They were paid going wages. In hundreds of cases any prejudice against women farm workers that farmers may have had has been revised. Comments such as 'She was the best hired hand we have ever had' are common. Women seem to like farm work and some thrive on it. Many were back on farms this year for the second time, and many newcomers are looking forward to helping out next summer," added Mrs. Little.

December 30 is deadline for dairy feed payment

W. A. Hinz, member of the county AAA committee, urgently requested farmers to file their dairy feed applications and evidence for September-October production and sales before December 30, 1944, so that payments for these two months may be made.

"That's the important thing for farmers to remember right now in connection with making applications for dairy feed payment," Mr. Hinz said. "File your application and evidence for September and October, 1944 milk and butterfat production and sales with the county office on or before December 30."

Mr. Hinz went on to say that November and December evidence and applications will be accepted at the county office after January 1, 1945.

"We have been making payments for two-month periods and then allowing 60 days for filing applications and evidence for any period," the county committeeman explained. "This procedure holds good for November - December dairy feed payments. However, evidence for January, February and March will be filed with one application for payment. Applications and evidence for this period will be accepted at the county office beginning April 1, 1945.

Raise price ceilings on hogs and wheat

Will promote heavier hogs

Principal developments during the week include (1) the raising of the ceiling to $14.75, Chicago basis, regardless of weight, for all hogs other than sows, boars and stags; (2) the announcement of support prices for eggs at 24 cents a dozen to farmers for straight-run or 27 cents for candled eggs; and (3) an increase of four cents in the wheat price ceiling.

Raising the ceiling to $14.75 for hogs weighing in excess of 270 pounds will probably have the effect of inducing farmers to feed their hogs to heavier weights, particularly in the western part of the corn belt, where corn supplies are extremely large in relation to hog numbers. This revision probably reflects the opinion that the end of the war in Europe is not in sight and that more corn products will be needed for the armed forces than was originally anticipated.

Raising the wheat ceiling four cents at Chicago was done to meet demands of the new law requiring parity for producers and to provide for some slight increase in the future parity index. Grain prices have strengthened considerably during the past three months. Part of this strength can be attributed to the prolongation of the war caused by the bad breaks we have received on the European front. One writer indicates, for example, that the weather on the western front has been the worst in 100 years and has been an important factor in slowing the advance of the allied armies. Corn has sold within the past few days at ceiling prices at Chicago. Part of this strength reflects weather conditions and bad roads, but the basic reason appears to be the change in attitude toward the duration of the war. Any prolongation of the war means heavier government debt, expansion in buying power of consumers and greater difficulty in preventing further inflation.

During the past week the War Food Administration announced that the government would support egg prices to producers in 1945 at a minimum of 27 cents a dozen for candled eggs; and in areas where marketing facilities for purchasing candled eggs from producers cannot be made available the minimum producer price will be 24 cents a dozen to farmers for straight-run eggs. The government will, if necessary, designate purchasing agents in all areas prior to the beginning of heavy egg production.

In spite of some revision upward in government requirements for eggs, present hen numbers suggest egg prices at support levels during the flush season of production unless flocks are heavily culled. The support prices established do not provide for profitable use of the farmer's feed or labor, particularly in comparison with sale of milk and other livestock products.

A press association report says that a new proposal for flat ceilings on live cattle will be submitted by the OPA to Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson. The suggestion apparently originated as a result of threatened shutdown of markets in New York and New Jersey. Dealers in that area contend that it is impossible for them to operate at a profit under present circumstances where competition forces them to pay higher prices for cattle than they can get for the meat under OPA ceilings. Because of producer opposition to cattle ceilings, some other way may be found to solve the problem of the eastern specialized slaughterers.

Parachute Landings

A new technique for paratroopers has been worked out. In the early days of the war they were instructed to land with their feet about 18 inches apart. Now they are taught to hold them together because the new method reduces ankle fractures.

Attention, Women!

Here's something new for tall women 5' 6" or over . . . At last a pajama that fits one's dimensions. No wonder that designer Harry Berger (shown in inset) calls them Proportional PJ's. Other features of these tommies dimensional pajamas are the man-tailoring; the overhanging yokes; deliberately designed to extend beyond the shoulder line so as not to cause strain or stress during one's restless sleep; the U-shaped crotch which comfortably follows the curve of the body, and the horizontal button-holes which keep buttons in for the night. Pajamas in the new dimensional sizes come for the tall, the small and the average woman, as shown above.

War spending to keep farm income up in '45

Speaking on the immediate prospect for farmers for 1945 Dr. L. J. Norton at the Annual Meeting of the Cook County Farm Bureau December 13, stated, "We are still fighting two wars and probably will be through a great part of 1945 and will continue government spending. Therefore, we may expect a heavy demand for farm commodities and our program should be full production in 1945 with a few possible exceptions. Beyond 1945 we may expect an end to come to this war and as soon as it does there will be cut backs, lessened national income and consequently less farm income.

"So far as the dairyman is concerned this is no time to buy high priced cows. We may expect subsidies to be cancelled shortly after hostilities. However dairymen face a good year for 1945.

"The vegetable farmer is being asked for an increase in processed crops for tomatoes, sweet corn and carrots. On the whole the fresh vegetable crops probably should be reduced somewhat. The index selling price for fresh vegetables has been the highest for any farm commodity and a reaction has begun to set in. It is therefore suggested that a reduction of around 5 to 10 percent for fresh vegetables may well be made for this coming year. The victory garden program has been hot and cold this past year. Just now there is an effort to revive the victory garden program but it is believed that it will meet little success. On the whole the vegetable grower must expect his costs to be much higher, labor more difficult so there is not much he can do but to begin to retrench on production.

"It is probable that livestock will sell fairly well this next year because of the reduction in meat animals. Oils and fats will continue scarce and soybean subsidies will be continued.

"Poultry men were faced with a super abundance this past year but large quantities of dry eggs have been moved into Russia by lend lease and the government will probably continue to buy eggs in the market this coming year. We will have some new machinery but for the most part farmers may not expect much machinery until after the war munitions building program has been finished which will not be complete until victory which may be at least two years from now.

"Fertilizers this year are very short and farmers must by all means stock their fertilizer early. Sprays will be short also this next year. We must expect very few heavy truck tires and also vegetable growers will face a constantly decreasing number of packages, crates and boxes. To sum up 1945 will be a fairly good year for farmers because of the continuation of the war. After 1945, begin to expect cut backs and decreased farm incomes. This is the time for farmers to begin to watch production costs, to cut out unproductive live stock, pay any remaining debts, keep out of an increasing real estate market, and invest surplus funds in war bonds. People should realize, after all, war bonds are probably the best investments at this time that we have on the market.

"There is a fear of inflation on the part of farmers while undoubtedly there will still be price advances. We believe that a run away inflation will be controlled and that we need not be too fearful of a collapse in our economic structure."

The following were elected directors of the board for the ensuing year:

Women help produce record farm crops

Thousands of women all over the United States have helped plant, cultivate and harvest this year's big crop as members of the Women's Land Army.

Here in Illinois women have done their part to help raise food to feed our fighting men and our allies. According to Mrs. Madge Little, state extension farm labor supervisor in charge of WLA, 5,810 women were recruited for seasonal farm jobs, such as harvesting vegetables and detasseling hybrid seed corn. In addition, 41 are doing year-round work. Biggest single job was corn detasseling, which required long hours under a hot sun.

These Illinois women took time from housekeeping, offices and stores and from teaching and college work to help meet the vital need for workers to fill the gaps left by increasing numbers of farm men who have been called to the colors. It was one of the state's biggest crop years.

"There were many more women living on farms who have been doing men's work and are not included in these figures," Mrs. Little explains, "and over 36,000 youth under 18 enrolled for farm jobs here in Illinois this year, a portion of whom were girls.

"These women had no experience on farms in a great many cases. Their contribution to the war effort is outstanding. They were paid going wages. In hundreds of cases any prejudice against women farm workers that farmers may have had has been revised. Comments such as 'She was the best hired hand we have ever had' are common. Women seem to like farm work and some thrive on it. Many were back on farms this year for the second time, and many newcomers are looking forward to helping out next summer," added Mrs. Little.

December 30 is deadline for dairy feed payment

W. A. Hinz, member of the county AAA committee, urgently requested farmers to file their dairy feed applications and evidence for September-October production and sales before December 30, 1944, so that payments for these two months may be made.

"That's the important thing for farmers to remember right now in connection with making applications for dairy feed payment," Mr. Hinz said. "File your application and evidence for September and October, 1944 milk and butterfat production and sales with the county office on or before December 30."

Mr. Hinz went on to say that November and December evidence and applications will be accepted at the county office after January 1, 1945.

"We have been making payments for two-month periods and then allowing 60 days for filing applications and evidence for any period," the county committeeman explained. "This procedure holds good for November - December dairy feed payments. However, evidence for January, February and March will be filed with one application for payment. Applications and evidence for this period will be accepted at the county office beginning April 1, 1945.

★ FASHION PREVIEW ★

Prepare squash, sweet potato for vitamin A content

Both winter squash and sweet potatoes, two important yellow vegetables now in season, are excellent sources of vitamin A, states Miss Frances Van Duyne, associate in home economics, University of Illinois.

The average-sized sweet potato should provide all the vitamin A needed by an adult for one day. In addition, it contains some vitamin C and a good supply of iron and vitamin B1. To conserve the sweet potato flavor as well as the vitamin and mineral content, it is best to cook them without peeling.

For variety, sweet potatoes can be spiced and glazed or served as orange sweet potatoes. Escalloped sweet potatoes and apples, combining cooked peeled sweet potatoes and tart apples, provide an appetizing dish.

Though they seem to taste specially good with pork, sweet potatoes also make a desirable complement to other meats, chiefly chicken, sausage and lamb.

Winter squash is at its tastiest when steamed or baked. For the latter, it is only necessary to cut it into sections, depending on the size, and to remove the seeds and fibrous portion.

Steamed squash lends itself better to mashing for casserole dishes of various sorts and makes interesting flavor combinations when served with pork and such vegetables as green pepper, onions, celery and chives.

Fire-Resistant Paint

The navy has a new fire-retarding paint. It came out of research directed by Rear Adm. Edward L. Cochrane for the bureau of ships. Active fire-retarding ingredients, such as antimony oxide, explain most of the paint's properties. Fire-retardant paints popular on land, such as those with casein admixed, are not suitable for use at sea, because they do not resist mildew and repeated washing. No paint is absolutely fireproof in the sense that it will not be damaged if heated intensely long enough.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

Will Durant has the gift of describing history and philosophy in terms that make easy and fascinating reading. His "The Story of Philosophy," published in 1927, made him famous and was a best-seller. "The Life of Greece" (1939), also enormously popular, was a Book-of-the-Month Club dividend.

WILL DURANT

The latest volume in his survey of world history is "Caesar and Christ," a dramatic account of the rise of Rome from a crossroads town to world mastery, and of its long, slow crumbling and final catastrophic collapse into darkness and chaos.

As this is primarily a cultural history, politics and government are only two of the aspects treated. Religion, industry, manners, morals, the status of women, law, science, literature are all lavishly discussed.

Dr. Durant believes that a reading of past events should illuminate the present. In the class struggles and jockeying for power that typify Roman history, he finds an analogue to the development of Europe and America to the present time. He reminds us that dictators have ever used the same methods. And he tells us that the dole was resorted to more than a century before Christ and that the first Roman labor union was established about 600 B.C.

In "This Was My Newport," about the early days of Newport, Maude Howe Elliott tells of a certain gentleman who made a huge fortune out of smuggling. He used to entertain in high style and once, just as his guests were about to be seated at the table, his mansion caught fire. But he wouldn't let a little thing like that interfere with his party. He had the servants take the table and all the fixings out on the lawn, where his guests could eat while enjoying the spectacle of his costly house burning to the ground.

The Basque people of Spain have a reputation for doing just the opposite of what is expected of them. Dr. Jose Antonio de Aguirre, former President of the Basque Republic, was in Belgium when the Germans invaded there. He was on the Gestapo blacklist, and his capture would have meant his execution. Instead of trying to run away, he headed straight for Berlin. Though his only disguise was a pair of spectacles and a mustache, he lived there safely for several months, often treated obsequiously by the very Nazi officials and Spanish Falangists who were looking for him. He tells his remarkable story in "Escape from Berlin."

Prepare squash, sweet potato for vitamin A content

Both winter squash and sweet potatoes, two important yellow vegetables now in season, are excellent sources of vitamin A, states Miss Frances Van Duyne, associate in home economics, University of Illinois.

The average-sized sweet potato should provide all the vitamin A needed by an adult for one day. In addition, it contains some vitamin C and a good supply of iron and vitamin B1. To conserve the sweet potato flavor as well as the vitamin and mineral content, it is best to cook them without peeling.

For variety, sweet potatoes can be spiced and glazed or served as orange sweet potatoes. Escalloped sweet potatoes and apples, combining cooked peeled sweet potatoes and tart apples, provide an appetizing dish.

Though they seem to taste specially good with pork, sweet potatoes also make a desirable complement to other meats, chiefly chicken, sausage and lamb.

Winter squash is at its tastiest when steamed or baked. For the latter, it is only necessary to cut it into sections, depending on the size, and to remove the seeds and fibrous portion.

Steamed squash lends itself better to mashing for casserole dishes of various sorts and makes interesting flavor combinations when served with pork and such vegetables as green pepper, onions, celery and chives.

Fire-Resistant Paint

The navy has a new fire-retarding paint. It came out of research directed by Rear Adm. Edward L. Cochrane for the bureau of ships. Active fire-retarding ingredients, such as antimony oxide, explain most of the paint's properties. Fire-retardant paints popular on land, such as those with casein admixed, are not suitable for use at sea, because they do not resist mildew and repeated washing. No paint is absolutely fireproof in the sense that it will not be damaged if heated intensely long enough.

READING & WRITING
BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

Will Durant has the gift of describing history and philosophy in terms that make easy and fascinating reading. His "The Story of Philosophy," published in 1927, made him famous and was a best-seller. "The Life of Greece" (1939), also enormously popular, was a Book-of-the-Month Club dividend.

WILL DURANT

The latest volume in his survey of world history is "Caesar and Christ," a dramatic account of the rise of Rome from a crossroads town to world mastery, and of its long, slow crumbling and final catastrophic collapse into darkness and chaos.

As this is primarily a cultural history, politics and government are only two of the aspects treated. Religion, industry, manners, morals, the status of women, law, science, literature are all lavishly discussed.

Dr. Durant believes that a reading of past events should illuminate the present. In the class struggles and jockeying for power that typify Roman history, he finds an analogue to the development of Europe and America to the present time. He reminds us that dictators have ever used the same methods. And he tells us that the dole was resorted to more than a century before Christ and that the first Roman labor union was established about 600 B.C.

In "This Was My Newport," about the early days of Newport, Maude Howe Elliott tells of a certain gentleman who made a huge fortune out of smuggling. He used to entertain in high style and once, just as his guests were about to be seated at the table, his mansion caught fire. But he wouldn't let a little thing like that interfere with his party. He had the servants take the table and all the fixings out on the lawn, where his guests could eat while enjoying the spectacle of his costly house burning to the ground.

* * *

The Basque people of Spain have a reputation for doing just the opposite of what is expected of them. Dr. Jose Antonio de Aguirre, former President of the Basque Republic, was in Belgium when the Germans invaded there. He was on the Gestapo blacklist, and his capture would have meant his execution. Instead of trying to run away, he headed straight for Berlin. Though his only disguise was a pair of spectacles and a mustache, he lived there safely for several months, often treated obsequiously by the very Nazi officials and Spanish Falangists who were looking for him. He tells his remarkable story in "Escape from Berlin."

Changing his address overseas is Alexander Fritz of Prairie View. It is now Cpl. Alexander Fritz, 16125825, APO 489, c-o PM, New York, N. Y.

New Guinea

Oscar Laurance TM3c of Wheeling, arrived in New Guinea in time to spend the holidays. Oscar writes that he has already picked up a pet parrot and is trying to teach it to talk. He is getting his fill of bananas, pineapple and cocoanuts, something we cannot boast of back home.

Deadline

Deadline for news for With Uncle Sam is Tuesday at 5 of each week. Pictures, letters or news of servicemen should be mailed or called direct to the publication office. Cooperation of the folks at home is sought to make a bigger and better With Uncle Sam.

England

Staff Sergeant Charles W. Ross, of Arlington Heights, waist gunner of "Pappy's Pride" a B-17 Flying Fortress of the 452nd Bombardment Group, has been awarded a second Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" while taking part in Eighth Air Force bombing attacks on vital German industrial targets, and on Nazi military strong points, in support of advances by Allied ground forces. He is stationed in England.

Sgt. Ross is a member of the Third Bombardment Division, which was cited by the President for its historic England-to-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt aircraft factories at Regensburg. Flying in what is considered the toughest theatre of aerial warfare, he has helped his bomber fight its way through severe enemy opposition to attack such objectives as locomotive and tank works in Hanover, oil refineries at Harburg, and motor transport works at Mannheim, Germany.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ross of Saugatuck, Michigan. Prior to entering the AAF in February, 1944, Sgt. Ross was employed by the National Malliable Company of Cicero, Illinois. His wife, Mrs. Dorothy Ross, lives at Arlington Heights, Ill.

From England comes word of Phil Kaiser of Mt. Prospect.

"Haven't received the Herald for some time. Sure miss it. Please check my address to be sure it is right."

His address is Lt. Philip Kaiser, 0-827662, APO 558, c-o PM, New York, N. Y.

Great Lakes

Among those graduating from an intensive course of Gunner's Mate training at recent Service Schools exercises at Great Lakes was Richard F. Christiansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Christiansen, 215 S. Hi-Lusi ave., Mt. Prospect.

The Bluejacket was selected for his specialized training on the basis of his recruit training aptitude test scores. Graduates from the twenty specialized courses taught here at the Service Schools are sent to sea, to shore stations, or to advanced schools for further duy.

James C. Hayden, 18, son of Mrs. Clare S. Hayden, 314 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, is receiving his initial Naval indoctrination at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes.

His recruit training consists of instruction in seamanship, military drill, and general Naval procedure. During this period a series of aptitude tests will be taken by the recruit to determine whether he will be assigned to a Naval Service School, to a short station or to immediate duty at sea.

Virginia

August Anstedt of Arlington Heights has changed his address at Little Creek, Virginia. His present address is RN3c August N. Anstedt, USCG CGAR 11, c-o Little Creek L. B. Station, Little Creek, Va.

S2c Richard Scheer of Palatine has completed his boot training at Great Lakes and is now stationed at Camp Bradford, Virginia.

Italy

Sgt. Arthur Binneboese of Roselle is a member of the Second Bombardment Group, a B-17 Flying Fortress unit of the 15th AAF which traces its origin to World War I as the oldest heavy bomber group in American military history, and which has flown is 300th mission in the Mediterranean Theater.

Led by commanding officer Col. Paul T. Cullen, the group by coincidence flew its 300th mission on the first anniversary of the 15th Air Force—November 1, 1944. It attacked targets at Vienna, Austria.

The second Bombardment Group was organized in September, 1918, at Moulon, France, and its giant Flying Fortresses are a far cry from the old French Breguet day bombers flown by its original members.

In more than 18 months combat flying in the Mediterranean, the group has dumped 18,568 tons of bombs on axis targets, rolled up more than 7,574 sorties and shot 496 enemy planes out of the skies.

From North African bases in 1943, it participated in the Tunisian campaign, the knockout of Pantelleria and the softening of Sicily, Sardinia and Italy. With the 15th in Italy it has flown in the great air battles over Regensburg and Stayr, lent its weight to ground support at Cassino, Anzio and Southern France, helped pound German aircraft industry and Ploesti's oil and participated in the first shuttle run to Russia.

Corporal James Silianoff, 19, 115 N. Addison St., Bensenville, tail gunner, has been assigned recently to an AAF B-17 Flying Fortress unit of the 15th Air Force in Italy. His unit recently completed its 300th mission.

Cpl. Silianoff joined the army on July 26, 1943, and received his gunners wings in May, 1944, at Kingman, Arizona. After taking advanced flight training, he arrived overseas in November.

His mother, Mrs. Helen Silianoff, lives in Bensenville.

Texas

Victor Binneboese of Roselle writes this week from Pampa, Texas.

"I believe that I am more than overdue to write and do my bit to keep 'With Uncle Sam' going. It sure is swell receiving the paper every week, to find out all the home news, and especially to know where all my buddies from Roselle are.

"Two weeks ago I had the pleasure of spending a Sunday with Av/c James Frank Wind and Pvt. Ray Anderson. The former is stationed at Pampa, Texas, and Ray being stationed here with me in Amarillo. Incidentally, they were the first I have met while in service.

"This is about all the news for this time. Am studying for mechanics now and expect to finish the early part of March. It is very interesting, especially on the B-29's. Keep the paper coming—will be looking for it every week."

His address is Pvt. Victor Binneboese 36767796, Sec. M, Bks. 1616, Amarillo Air Field, Amarillo, Texas.

Home on furlough from Sheppard Field, Texas, is Irvin McDougall of Arlington Heights. He arrived home last week Monday, and reports to his new station in one of the Carolinas January 1.

Saipan

Scheduled to leave again after a short leave at home is Ensign Charles Folz of Palatine. He reports to Florida January 7, and will then be shipped to the west coast again.

Charles reports that he has often hoped to meet his brother, George, who serves aboard a troop transport, but has been unsuccessful the past two years. They just missed each other on the west coast, again in Pearl Harbor, on Palau, and both boys were on Saipan at the same time, but did not know it. Ensign Folz flies a navy patrol bomber.

And now as Charles leaves home January 7, George is expected home about January 15.

France

Captain Robert Kruse of Wheeling writes from somewhere in France to say that his Christmas packages had arrived and he and his buddies had been enjoying the goodies they contained. Weather conditions were moderate with muddy roads prevailing and a freeze was welcome to clean things up.

Minnesota

Yeoman and Mrs. Arthur Miller of Wheeling spent Christmas with their parents. Yeoman Miller is still stationed at Duluth, Minn.

How many more days, Mummy?

"Tell me. How many more days before Daddy can come home?"

And mother doesn't know. So she answers the same way she's answered a hundred times . . .

"Not so many days . . . we hope. Daddy can't come home to us until the war is over. Until we win, you know."

Nobody can tell the thousands of bewildered little hearts when their Daddies will come home.

Nor the millions of other Americans when their husbands, or sons, or sweethearts will be back.

The tragic truth is that many of them will never see their loved ones again. Never.

But this we do know . . .

Every minute by which the war can be shortened means fewer lives lost—fewer white crosses on a lonely hillside.

Your job is to put every dollar you can possibly dig up into War Bonds. The fighting equipment bought by your dollars will hasten the day of Victory . . . the day when the boys come marching home.

Don't slacken your Bond purchases while victory is within our grasp! Never let it be said that while the attack grows stronger on the fighting fronts, we at home failed to back it to the very limit of our ability.

Dig down deeper. Buy extra War Bonds. Help shorten the war by those vital minutes—or days, or months—which mean American lives saved!

KEEP ON BACKING THE ATTACK!

How many more days, Mummy?

"Tell me. How many more days before Daddy can come home?"

And mother doesn't know. So she answers the same way she's answered a hundred times . . .

"Not so many days . . . we hope. Daddy can't come home to us until the war is over. Until we win, you know."

Nobody can tell the thousands of bewildered little hearts when their Daddies will come home.

Nor the millions of other Americans when their husbands, or sons, or sweethearts will be back.

The tragic truth is that many of them will never see their loved ones again. Never.

But this we do know . . .

Every minute by which the war can be shortened means fewer lives lost—fewer white crosses on a lonely hillside.

Your job is to put every dollar you can possibly dig up into War Bonds. The fighting equipment bought by your dollars will hasten the day of Victory . . . the day when the boys come marching home.

Don't slacken your Bond purchases while victory is within our grasp! Never let it be said that while the attack grows stronger on the fighting fronts, we at home failed to back it to the very limit of our ability.

Dig down deeper. Buy extra War Bonds. Help shorten the war by those vital minutes—or days, or months—which mean American lives saved!
